#	RESPONSES	DATE
1	The two directions I consider most urgent are 1. Walk with women as we claim our voice and work toward an inclusive church and society and 2. Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth. #1 because women's voices can broaden actions that work toward an inclusive church and society. #2 because we show solidarity and support as we use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth.	5/6/2020 2:30 PM
2	1. Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming. (especially water). I am trying to have a deeper respect of what sharing means with an emphasis on sharing water. I have a nephew by marriage and his doctorate is on WATER. He says we will always have water; the problem is clear or usable water. It will not be usable if we aren't careful not to pollute it. The problem is usable water. I'm trying not to use it unnecessarily. I try to use it respectfully, not let it run carelessly, remembering the people who live with a constant shortage of water. 2. Trafficking of persons: to try to write as when we hear of trafficking of persons, especially women and children. To read and denounce the issue. I'm trying to respond more to peace and justice issues. I have a local community who invite me to respond with the group on peace and justice issues. 3. At the Provincial House we have the opportunity to know people from many other countries, customs and languages. It is an added privilege built in here. I also have the opportunity to teach English to a Spanish-speaking woman who works near the walk-in shelter in Schenectady, "Joseph's Place". 4. I am member of our Province Peace and Justice Group. Doreen is very generous in inviting us to the activities 5. I want to live my retirement using my time for peace and justice issues. I'm grateful for the time to read and be more up on things. 6. I'm in a small group who meet weekly to pray for peace and justice. It is a group of "retirees". A lot has been put on hold because of the virus.	4/30/2020 12:26 PM
3	#1 & #4	4/28/2020 11:43 AM
4	Once again, right now, ministering to the needs related to Covid-19 and how it effects those most in need.	4/27/2020 4:15 PM
5	If the bullets were numbered 1-5, I would choose #3 & #4. #3-Articulate vows in today's reality. The diversity of ideas among people is divisive. I want to learn how to unveil Common Ground among people. How do we create an environment where it is safe to express divergent opinions. Do the 900 members of the congregation do this? #4-walk with women...I choose to walk with women who share my values. what happens when I find that our values differ? Do I know how to search together to find where we agree and disagree?	4/27/2020 3:32 PM
6	1. Earth crisis-because it's our home and its future depends on us. 2. Our complicity in all systems of oppression-because our actions are strengthening the locks that bind others and ourselves.	4/27/2020 3:19 PM
7	I numbered the bullets. I choose #3 & #4. Numbers 1, 2, and 5 are intertwined in #3 & 4.	4/27/2020 3:09 PM
8	The first two listed above...Global warming because like the current crisis, it will affect the neediest of the population. The second one listed...our complicity. We are not poor, despite our vow of poverty. I personally experience this now when I see middle class families desperate for food. Do I/we really think about our consumption of everyday essentials? I don't think I do. This is currently a real learning experience.	4/27/2020 11:45 AM
9	The two directives I would like to see address are numbers 3 & 4; vows & walking with women. I do not see them as "urgent", just the ones that we as a province need to address.	4/27/2020 11:35 AM
10	Thank you for the opportunity to reflect and share. It is imperative that we address the earth crisis because it involves all people and the future of the planet. This pandemic offers us a chance to see the good or harm that we do to one another, to use gospel values to speak out on behalf of all our "dearest neighbors", including all forms of life. The need is beyond American problems, or Democratic or Republican, or nations - it is a life and death need and we corporately have the voice, power, and will to being change. We are seeing a more gentle, kind side of humanity if we look, while the virus destroys lives and futures. Love transcends. Secondly, I think that we must seek truth and speak out to accompany and affirm others. The American political scene is dishonest and self-seeking. While we seek to be informed, to listen carefully to others, to respect and accompany the immigrants, powerless, poor, imprisoned, unemployed, we can create a culture of hope and compassion. We desire to place people before ideologies, philosophies or political parties.	4/27/2020 11:14 AM most pressing for our times and they move us outward to a more inclusive way of being in the world and loving God and neighbor without distinction.

12	ive our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's reality. I believe it encompasses the actions of addressing racism and oppression, global warming and care of the earth, and an inclusive church. lity.	4/25/2020 1:59 PM
13	1. Both of these directions have the most impact on the most people; 2. Being active in addressing concerns for Earth has a direct impact on people on the margins; 3. Deepening our awareness of complicity...helps become more aware of our privilege this impacts our relationships externally and internally (and potentially can help us be a more welcoming and inclusive community for those who want to join us); 4. The interrelatedness of these directions are the spiritual, social justice work of our time. As Elizabeth Johnson said, "Eco-Justice must be an inseparable part of religious living." Pope Francis amplifies this Laudato Si.	4/24/2020 10:59 AM
14	I think responding to the crisis of Earth and global warming is the most urgent today. We are still polluting our earth without thinking of the terrible results we are causing. Fracking is the worst destruction and it is harming the Native communities most of all. Everyone is going to suffer. Walk with women as we claim our voice and work toward an inclusive church and society. It has been years of women suffering from unequal pay with men. Single mothers do not even have money to feed their children.	4/24/2020 10:16 AM
15	support walk with women... and use our collective voice	4/24/2020 10:14 AM
16	Walk with women. Time to join with other women	4/24/2020 10:12 AM
17	The Covid-19 Virus has put a special need on our attending to the crisis of the Earth Deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression	4/24/2020 10:10 AM
18	1. Respond to earth crisis so people become aware and recycle. 2. Walk with women as we claim our voices and work toward an inclusive society. Women do many things in the Church and there is no reason why they cannot be at least deacons.	4/24/2020 10:08 AM
19	1. Respond to the crisis of earth and global warming. Most critical for our time and future generations 2. Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities. We cannot accomplish the 1st directive with also doing the second.	4/24/2020 10:07 AM
20	1. Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming 2. Walk with women as we claim our voice and work toward an inclusive church and society	4/24/2020 10:05 AM
21	1. Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities 2. Walk with women as we claim our voice and work toward an inclusive church and society.	4/24/2020 10:03 AM
22	I consider responding to Earth's crisis and taking actions to dismantle racism and other interlocking systems of privilege and oppression to be our most urgent needs.... Acting on them for me, implies, and will necessarily involve the others in real, practical ways; they will also engage us in confronting and changing our church, the people of God we are, in a more feminist, activist directions.	4/24/2020 10:00 AM
23	Respond to crisis of Earth and global warming. I think there is something each individual can do as well as collectively, i.e. lessen carbon dioxide to the air. Don't let the water unnecessarily, re-cycle plastic bogs. Use bags for shopping, etc.	4/24/2020 9:57 AM
24	1. Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming 2. Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth	4/24/2020 9:55 AM
25	1. Respond to the crisis of earth/global warming. Recent events show events that happen affect our Mother Earth. 2. Articulate and authentically live our vows... All are looking to us to be "role models" of dedication.	4/24/2020 9:52 AM
26	1. Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming...because it is an imperative that we unite in any way we can to challenge the "powers that be" to address this most glaring issue of our time. There are so many opportunities and organizations that need our support in addressing the issue. Many Religious Communities are taking it as a mandate and are becoming creative, vocal, and actually addressing the women issue along with it. 2. Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth. Our attention to speaking the truth and joining with others seems most urgent. This pandemic is opening the eyes of many.	4/24/2020 9:50 AM

31	Crisis of Earth – healing of Earth and healing of human communities are connected. Systems of Oppression – we have named “Racism” as an important focus for years, but never did anything about it.	4/23/2020 11:17 AM
32	1. Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming. Why? As we are experiencing with Covid 19, the environment is what we experience Life within. Without an earth that is safe, none of us can flourish. 2. Deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression. Why? We are living in a corrupt political world, as we can recognize by watching the news. We are called to be a voice of compassion and justice..	4/23/2020 11:13 AM
33	1. Crisis of Earth – most urgent in that it is all inclusive. Presently we are destroying ALL LIFE – earth resources, animal kingdom, food chain, human life thru climate disasters/destruction, quality of life, health, increasing burden on people who are poor as they are affected the most, our peace and spirituality which is so tied to earth and its gifts, etc. The other directives are affected by this one. WE may be too late! 2. Our complicity and participation in the cycle of poverty, ignorance or denial of our own racism, ways we are part of power structure that oppress or exclude are part of us. The dear neighbor speaks equality of life, economics, and power for the common good.	4/23/2020 10:57 AM
34	1. Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming - because this is the only home we know and we need to take care of it. 2. Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth - this will help us live the other directives.	4/23/2020 10:11 AM
35	The top two: Global warming and racism. Awareness level has to evolve into organized action. Groups can make a movement. We CSJ's are in great and numerous positions to influence lots of people i.e.our educational system. It is imperative that globally people realize we better do something or we won't have a planet to save. Global warming stories need to be kept alive on t.v. and newspapers. The racism issue is something we can do now in our own Congregation. The book by Robin Deangelo, White Fragility really nails it. I think each one of us has explore our own selves and see where we have contributed to the group prejudice of "institutional power". Self realization can come with education and discussions that lead to actions and slowly bring change. Using our iphones and the internet we can get quickly and highly informed by experts in the field. i.e. Ted Talks. I listened to Deangelo address a large group and introduced them to White Fragility.	4/22/2020 6:43 PM
36	Right now, there are fewer than 260 sisters in the Albany Province with approximately 30 plus in there 90s. We are also in the midst of a virus that we are trying very hard to keep out of the building. At the same time, we are moving sisters from their community on the 5th floor to three other floors. Aside from the physical drain on these sisters, there is the emotional toll this is taking on those sisters. The floor is being cleared to set up a quarantine and isolation unit should we need it. I'm sorry if I seem rude, but I'm afraid I really don't have the energy or the strength to focus on these questions at this time.	4/22/2020 5:41 PM
37	I consider Crisis of the Earth and Global Warming most urgent because we are already running out of time to respond to this very serious crisis.	4/22/2020 2:43 PM
38	Articulate and authentically live our vows and work toward an inclusive church and society; use collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth.	4/22/2020 12:28 PM
39	Crisis of the earth and walking with women	4/22/2020 12:05 PM
40	Articulate and authentically live our vows continually expanding our exploration of how we bring to one another a stronger sense of witness so that we may only speak to today's realities, but our witness invites others to new ways of seeing and responding. We walk with one another, claiming our voice in church and in society in a manner that is collective - allowing all to speak their truth. anding our exploration of how we bring to one another a stronger sense of witness so that we not only speak to today's realities, but our witness invites others to new ways of	4/22/2020 11:50 AM seeing and responding. We walk with one another, claiming our voice in church and in society in a manner that is collective-allowing all to speak their truth.

41	Respond to earth crisis; woman's voice in Church	4/22/2020 7:58 AM
42	earth	4/22/2020 12:19 AM
43	Deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression. Because we have managed to avoid doing this even though it was explicitly identified as an act of chapter for years. Because to not do this contradicts our words about who we say we are and makes "the love of God and of the dear neighbor without distinction" rhetoric. Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming. Because the healing of earth's communities of humans connects with the healing of the earth.	4/21/2020 11:09 PM
44	Looking at these through the lens of intersectionality and Covid-19 and unifying love , they all seem to be very related. Climate change is a major issue - but it is strongly related to all forms of oppression - as we walk with our sisters and brothers and help them to claim their voice - to speak the truth that is within - especially the voice of those most often not heard - the homeless, the poor, the people of color and the earth. It is all one piece	4/21/2020 10:20 PM
45	N/A	4/21/2020 9:03 PM
46	Abbreviated: priority to 1and 2. Our response to those and to 4 and 5 will help to shape how we live our vows in terms of mutual responsibility and the importance of recognizing the presence of God in all that is.	4/21/2020 8:48 PM
47	Responding to the crisis of the Earth a and warming because of the impact this has on all Earths creatures and creation. The toxic effects of pollution have damaged our eco systems, the wealth of the seas is diminished, dangerous storms, fires and other disasters are on the increase. Species are disappearing and our children are suffering from poor water and air leading to environmental tally related illness. We must dismantle oppression demanding a more equitable justice system, decent housing education and health care for our minority communities, improvement in the delivery of service such as health care for all our Native American communities including improving their health system. We must ensure voting rights for the minority communities, and vigorous prosecution of hate crimes.	4/21/2020 7:07 PM
48	See above. They're all important -- but the question is: which are most urgent for US?	4/21/2020 7:05 PM

51	Responding to Earth's crises in all areas and continuing to live our vows in these times and witness as we are able. our vows as authentically as possible	4/21/2020 4:45 PM
52	I gave the two on a previous survey. My answer to "Why?" is simply this: I haven't heard much about these last two directives, either here in Hawai'i or from our Sisters/ACOF in other areas. So, if I am to "Walk with ..." and Use our collective voice ...? I have an urgency to learn what we are doing and how we are responding to these two directives as a congregation. I need to hear from the broader group.	4/21/2020 4:42 PM
53	At the present time, partly because as a local group we are actively doing something about each, I will choose the first two.	4/21/2020 4:35 PM
54	Respond to the crisis of earth...; Walk with women...	4/21/2020 4:16 PM
55	Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities and respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming are my two - and for different reasons. Crisis of Earth and global warming is obvious -- we need someplace to live healthily and safely. Changes we've seen in air quality as we've responded to Covid-19 confirm that some changes are possible if we work together. Authentically living our vowed life is critical if we are to move inti the future as congregation. even now, the post-Covid-19 world will be different and make different demands on all. Knowing who we are, why we share a vowed commitment, and how we live it in this time will determine out life together and for the dear neighbor.	4/21/2020 3:55 PM
56	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming: this is major and very practical. Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth: there seems to be two important	4/21/2020 3:04 PM components to this directive. Collective implies working collaboratively with other religion communities and social justice organizations. We want to be in solidarity with the poor, marginalized, the voiceless, etc.

57	I consider responding to Earth's crisis and taking actions to dismantle racism and other interlocking systems of privilege and oppression to be our most urgent needs.... Acting on them for me, implies, and will necessarily involve the others in real, practical ways; they will also engage us in confronting and changing our church, the people of God we are, in a more feminist, activist directions.	4/21/2020 3:01 PM
58	Respond to earth & global warming: if we don't end our planet harmful ways, nothing else will matter-there will be endless new diseases, lack of potable water, our lakes and rivers will die, the bees will disappear & with them our food supply. The dire consequences are endless. 2. Dismantle interlocking systems of oppression: If those on the margins of society are denied dignity & life, we too will be mortally harmed. Our very souls will be guilty of complicity.	4/21/2020 2:52 PM
59	The earth and dismantling systems of oppression.	4/21/2020 2:15 PM
60	Respond to crisis of earth. Walk with women.	4/21/2020 1:19 PM
61	Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's society. Walk with women as we claim our voice and work toward an inclusive church and society. It seems the younger generation is leaning toward a socialistic view for government.	4/21/2020 1:07 PM
62	Walk with womenbecause globally women are still considered second class to men, invisible in our church and often disposable in society. We can use our collective power to educate and liberate both women and men. Use our collective voice to accompany othersbecause we (700,000 women religious worldwide) have power when we speak out against injustice. We are credible, reliable, "other oriented" witnesses to the power of love in our world. We can get the stories of truth out in the public without fear of oppression.	4/21/2020 1:04 PM

67	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming. Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities. Both of these chapter directives call us to enter the needs of our world and the "dear neighbor". We must care for all our brothers and sisters throughout the world and realize that the way we treat the earth is the way we are treating our "dear neighbor" not only now but in the future, all the generations which we have not yet known. We must articulate and authentically live our vows in an always changing world in order that we offer this world the strength and opportunity to relate to those persons, ideas and movements which will lead to our strengthening the values that will give and build new life.	4/21/2020 10:45 AM

71	Respond to the crisis of the Earth and global warming and ending systems of oppression.	4/20/2020 8:58 PM
72	I thin the 1st two as i answered above. OR,since i may have misunderstood the question: Implementing Laudato Si' AND Expand and deepen our partnerships	4/20/2020 8:37 PM
73	Respond to the crisis of earth and global warming. Pope Francis has made this a priority and Trump's U.S. policies are taking us backwards with regard to these issues. Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth. There are so many injustices that need to be voiced for the good of the poor, immigrants, minorities.	4/20/2020 8:35 PM crisis because it involves all people and the future of the planet. This pandemic offers us a chance to see the good or harm that we do to one another, to use gospel values to speak out on behalf of all our "dearest neighbors", including all forms of life. The need is beyond American problems, or political platforms, or even nations, it is a life and death need and we corporately have the voice, power, will to bring change. Secondly, I think we must seek truth and speak out to empower and accompany others. The American political scene is dishonest, and self-seeking. While we seek to be informed, to listen carefully to others, to respect and accompany the powerless, immigrants, poor, imprisoned, unemployed, trafficked, we can create a culture of hope and compassion. We desire to place people before ideologies, philosophies, or political parties.

76	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming and Deepen awareness of and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression. Now in light of the global crisis we are living through, I find it enlightening that just the shut downs that we have been forced into have allowed many critical habitats to recover amazingly well. I really think we can do something in this area. My second choice affects the other three commitments that I didn't choose. Working on dismantling systems of oppression can do many things and take many paths.	4/20/2020 6:12 PM
77	Respond to the crisis etc. Why? because it is right, just, and charitable. We need to take responsibility for our Planet. Articulate and authentically live, etc. Why? that is what we vowed to do and we should live up to our promises.	4/20/2020 4:36 PM
78	I consider the directive on earth and global warming and working toward dismantling systems of oppression as most urgent at this time. If we do not preserve and nurture earth, we won't be here to work toward any directives. And it strikes me that there is serious movement now to really address all the issues being raised by the Covid 19 virus. Issues such as health care, employment, food availability, etc. have to be addressed and being in an election year too will provide many opportunities to raise our voice in addressing oppressive systems.	4/20/2020 4:30 PM
79	Dismantling interlocking systems of oppression. Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth.	4/20/2020 4:16 PM

86	3. Vows: - Important to live our vows authentically - practicing our charism allows us to be witnesses - these two aspects contribute to our prophetic role 1. the Earth - We need to grow in acting our connectedness with all created beings/things especially Mother Earth - Pope Francis has said that the earth is the poorest of the poor. Whatever affects Mother Earth affects the poorest. - One of the directives of our previous chapters takes on the option for the poor	4/20/2020 1:38 PM
87	Walk with women as we claim our voice and work toward an inclusive church and society, Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth. These are actions we can take irregardless of our aging or diminishment.	4/20/2020 12:56 PM
88	We absolutely need to address the crisis of earth and global warming personally, locally and congregationally. I hear people saying we are doing what we can, but that is not enough. I believe we are called to make systemic changes to address that directive. One reason is that this issue affects those who experience economic insufficiency most directly and profoundly. By addressing this directive, we are also working toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression. Why? Because our mission of love of God and neighbor without distinction compels us to action.	4/20/2020 12:55 PM

89	The first two: Response to global warming and freeing those from systemic oppressions locally, nationally and globally.	4/20/2020 12:44 PM
90	Respond to crisis of Earth; authentically live our vows....Most urgent because the can encompass the other three and because both are the air we breathe and the ground of our being.	4/20/2020 12:37 PM
91	#1 If we don't respond to the Earth's crisis, there won't be any human problems to worry about. So, #2 would be seeing our vows in relationship to all of creation. e any humans to worry about!ny	4/20/2020 12:03 PM
92	1. crisis of earth/global warming - failure to reduce impact leads to dire consequences for our universe. 2. interlocking systems of oppression - pandemic affecting the most vulnerable, especially persons of color across the world.	4/20/2020 11:59 AM
93	Respond to the crisis..... We are seeing far too many problems with weather, climate change and destruction of our earth. If we don't do something now, it is only going to get worse This one is going to require us to look beyond ourselves and to utilize science and outside groups who have and are working on solutions to this problem. Use our collective voice... "We are in this together". Covid-19 and this is the same with so many other issues and it does affect so many others and if we speak as a group, we have so much more power. this is especially true with our declining numbers and ages of our sisters. We can benefit from working across provinces by sharing our ideas, hopes and ways we can work together. this could be committees using zoom conferences, meeting in provinces, writing, researching and encouraging others to participate in ways they are comfortable with. I have found simply by phone conversations and listening to what others are experiencing and how they view situations, broadens my perspectives We need to look at our ministries in the light of is this still a viable ministry? Can we afford to continue funding every one? Are there other ways these people can be served? In the light of the covid-19 are we needed in other ways to meet the needs of the people today? Are we stuck in what we have done for years and there are no new works? What is possible considering numbers, ages, health and energy? Maybe our bodies are wearing out but not our minds? How can we work across provinces to share ideas, energy, $$$ etc.	4/20/2020 11:56 AM
94	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming. – This is our home and if we do not take care of it, we (as well as other species) will be faced with more devastation via mega storms, rising oceans, more polluted air. Walk with women as we claim our voice and work toward an inclusive church and society. – To depend on one gender for the sacramental life of the church diminishes the body of Christ. We can no longer accept this inequality.	4/20/2020 11:52 AM
95	Prayer and response to ongoing pandemic	4/20/2020 11:51 AM
96	1. Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming - We won't leave much to be worried about if we don't save our resources and lessen our use of and depletion of Earth's gifts! 2. Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities. We can only speak to the integration of all people when each of us decides to live authentically ... and we, the CSJ's chose to do that through living our vows!	4/20/2020 11:51 AM
97	The two I consider most urgent are Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming. All we need do is study what is happening: fires in Australia, fires in the West, oceans rising, glaciers melting, Rain Forest deforestation, etc. Plastic in the oceans shows how one time usage is destroying our planet. Deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression. All we need do is look at how the Covid-19 virus is taking iits toll on the poor to see how racism has put persons of color in harm's way.	4/20/2020 11:48 AM
98	The crisis of the Earth and global warming and Deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward Dismantling interlocking systems of oppression. The issue of global warming in upon us in very frightening ways as we learn of the global situation of all our planet's peoples. We are quite late in addressing our problems. The systems of oppression are clearer than ever since covid 19. Our sisters and brothers black, brown and other than white have died at alarming rates due to health care neglect, health insurance unavailable, poverty in housing, job pay, education. Immigration disaster, rights of dreamers etc.	4/20/2020 11:45 AM
99	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming Year after year we are seeing an increase in warming trends, how they are intensifying, e.g., Australian fires, flooding, etc. and how frequently it is the poorest of the poor who are suffering ill effects. Their voices are often not heard; let's use ours while we still are a potent force.	4/20/2020 11:42 AM

101	The first regarding the earth and the last to use our collective voice to help others speak the truth.	4/20/2020 11:37 AM
102	Responding to the crisis of Earth and Global warming. Working toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression. During this Covid crisis both of these became more evident. The rich got richer and the poor got poorer. This will eventually lead to the loss of freedoms and democracy for the many.	4/20/2020 11:34 AM
103	Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities WHY: Vital that we look at this as the underlying factor that gives life to how we respond to and live out the directives. What makes our responses to directives any different to other groups if in our response others do not see/experience our living of the vows in ways that speak to and within our culture(s) today. We are consecrated woman & Associates living the Gospel message in a world that often doesn't recognize or understand how vowed life is the force moving us to deeper commitment to each & and to the world. How do we articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that truly witness and speak to today's realities(cultures): Are we doing so? Do we (I) have the courage to let ourselves (myself) be challenged by these questions? That's what I ask myself as I respond to these questions. Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth. I do feel we already take this to be very important.	4/20/2020 11:31 AM
104	1) Articulate and authentically live our vows etc... Reason why? At the time of our Profession we pronounce and renew our vows in the name of the Congregation of the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet. As a Congregation we have never revisited the vows in redefining them that speaks to today's realities. We have no commonality within our diversity of understanding while living and witnessing as vowed Members in this Congregation who are Called Together For The Life of the World. Is it time now to call us together to: Most important 2nd Directive:"Use our collective voice to accompany" Reason: While walking particularly with women has and always will be who we are as Sisters of St. Joseph I choose this directive because it's broader in scope to include all of humanity without distinction standing with lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender as previously stated in our Congregational Chapter 2013....women, children, men	4/20/2020 10:58 AM
105	(1) "Walk with women as we claim our voice and work toward an inclusive church and society. " (2) " Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities". The why's of # (1)... I come from a family that encouraged me to use my voice and to speak up when injustices occurred whether within the church, society, school, wherever. My parents are to be thanked for providing me with examples of how to live out such moral values which takes courage, trust and commitment. Throughout my life, I have joined groups, participated in conversations, attended symposiums, wherever I could find a platform in supporting women . Now that I am almost 81 years young: I want to deepen and strengthen my commitment facing the reality that I still have the physical energy and spiritual strength to do so.... STAYING INVOLVED ! The why's of # (2)..I have been a Vowed member for 62 years. Endless changes have come about since entrance days. The word "ARTICULATE" once again caught my attention in reference to the VOWS . When was the last time , as a Congregation, did we ARTICULATE with one anotherHow are the Vows AUTHENTICALLY lived and ARTICULATED in the 21st. Century ? Do our Vows empower us to make a positive difference in our world ? Have our Vows helped us to keep in touch with REALITY of ordinary people's lives ? Further reflections are calling me to pose this question : Is it time to call the Congregation to deepen our understanding of the Vows ? Are we being called to a SPIRITUAL RENEWAL? As Jorge Cela, S.J. once reflected....." It is a personal and collective process of SPIRITUAL RENOVATIONS." This is my deepest desireAn experiential, SPIRITUAL RENEWAL, within the Congregation !	4/20/2020 10:49 AM
106	Urgency seems to change on a daily basis. Two that seem particularly urgent now: 1) Deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression, 2) Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth. With the Covid-19 pandemic we are able to see very clearly the suffering and inequality that was already present, but not considered important.	4/20/2020 10:42 AM
107	collective voice/ climate	4/20/2020 10:02 AM
108	We are seeing far too many problems with weather, climate change and destruction of our earth. If we don't do something now, it is only going to get worse This one is going to require us to look beyond ourselves and to utilize science and outside groups who have and are working on solutions to this problem.	4/20/2020 10:00 AM

109	Walk with women as we claim our voice. Still don't have ERA in all states.	4/20/2020 9:13 AM
110	I find the directive regarding living the vows most urgent. We need to reclaim the uniqueness of this way of life. Not all are called to vowed life. Those of us who are need to live the vows with integrity. In order to do so, we need education on the role of the vows in our lives...and on the responsibilities the vows place on us. Otherwise, the integrity of religious life is hindered. I think in doing so, we would automatically respond to the other chapter directives.	4/20/2020 8:45 AM
111	Responding to the crisis of Earth and global warming. Deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression. These seem to me to be the most crucial issues facing our world today. Jesus' first concern was for the poor and oppressed and those treated unjustly.	4/20/2020 8:29 AM

121	Remaining as separate provinces	4/19/2020 3:34 PM
122	earth and women	4/19/2020 3:01 PM
123	Seems to me that by using our collective voice to accompany others speaking their truth we can both walk with women toward inclusivity and work toward eliminating oppression as well as respond to global climate change. Within our community we have a diversity of primary interests, but that doesn't prevent us from uniting with one another in common goals. 2. The witness of religious life related to today's realities. By using our collective voice, we witness to what it means to live religious life in this day.	4/19/2020 2:29 PM
124	I have already spoken to the crisis of Earth and global warming as THE MOST URGENT, for the simple reason that Marion Honors gave. Without the Earth, we will not be able to exist. I would see that the other most urgent directive for our society is that we: Walk with women as we claim our voice and work toward an inclusive church and society. Women have made great strides in this area – and sometimes at an horrific price. If you have read the March 16 issue of TIME, you know of these women. Yet many of our own Sisters have been victims of patriarchy as well. Male 'bashing' is not the objective... the objective is to have the gifts/talents/heart of women be able to influence not only the family, but also the decisions that are made that affect a nation and the global community...	4/19/2020 2:23 PM
125	Earth crisis; our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression; are major needs of our world.	4/19/2020 1:43 PM
126	Responding to crises of Earth and Global Warming and authentically living our vows is today's realities. We are at a critical point in climate change and that needs our immediate attention. We need to embrace ways to witness our vows in this century.	4/19/2020 12:43 PM
127	I am confused. There are only two directives according to the light green ACTS OF CHAPTER folder I am looking at. So they are the only two I can choose. 1. Establish an Innovation Committee to facilitate the development of models, processes, 2. Establish an Animation Committee that will develop processes and offer experiences for intra-congregational sharing...	4/19/2020 12:34 PM
128	I consider the first two most urgent. The first seems to include the last two. The crisis of the earth is most urgent. We must do all we can to protect the earth and also be well informed so we can share our knowledge with others. The second one includes the last two since it covers the systems of racism which is a real challenge to deal with.	4/19/2020 12:08 PM

129	I consider the first two directives on earth and global warming ; and work towards dismantling systems of oppression.	4/19/2020 11:40 AM
130	Doesn't matter to me.	4/19/2020 11:39 AM
131	Crisis of the Earth and 1)Global Warming - this is the only home we have; we need to do whatever we can to protect her, not only for ourselves but also for future generations. 2) Walk with women to claim our voice for an inclusive church and society. We have a vital role to play in both arenas. We need to be listened to.	4/19/2020 9:53 AM
132	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming, • Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realitie	4/19/2020 8:39 AM
133	I believe the call to simplification and the need to expand our partnerships would be the ones I think need most attention. I believe we must be women of prayer and it takes time and energy to do this. We are an aging community.	4/18/2020 10:54 PM
134	Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities, and Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth.	4/18/2020 9:34 PM

136	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming. Mother Earth is dying and global warming will especially effect the poor and powerless. 2) Deepen our awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression e.g. racism, immigration/ borders, death penaltywomen's rights in Church and society etc.ty/prison	4/18/2020 6:35 PM
137	Living our vows and an inclusive church	4/18/2020 3:49 PM
138	Global warming and dismantling systems of oppression	4/18/2020 3:46 PM
139	#3 and #5 - Other groups (i.e. Church, civic) can address the others but we are the ones experiencing the vowed and community life.	4/18/2020 3:40 PM
140	1. Deepeve n awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression; 2. Walk with women as we claim our voice and work toward an inclusichurch and society. The devastating effects of Covid-19 on minority communities is a clear indication of how interlocking institutional racism is resulting in what amounts to genocide in our own country.	4/18/2020 3:32 PM
141	Crisis of earth and global warming	4/18/2020 2:29 PM
142	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming, and Walk with women, men, LGBT, people of color, etc. to claim their voice and work toward an inclusive church and society. We need to protect the earth as a sacred place or there will be no need for other goals. Destruction of the earth has a greater impact on those who are poor. Walking WITH people and working to change unjust systemrs are both important.	4/18/2020 2:09 PM
143	Earth and Women in church	4/18/2020 1:45 PM
144	Think I answered that somewhat above: Caring for our common home. Why? It certainly is made quite clear in Laudato Si. The other is walking with women in what situation we find ourselves and raising awareness of inclusivity in whatever situation they may find themselves!	4/18/2020 11:35 AM
145	I find the most urgent the crisis of Earth and global warming and the walking with women to work toward and inclusive Church and society	4/18/2020 11:04 AM
146	First and Second one. Both are critical to the life of the world.	4/18/2020 10:47 AM
147	The first and second one. For me the crisis of earth and global warming definitely needs our attention and best efforts now. The second one also encompasses the oppression of women and church injustices.	4/18/2020 10:45 AM
148	"Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming" and "Deepen our awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression."	4/18/2020 10:14 AM
149	Crisis of Earth and work toward Dismantling Systems of Oppression. The crisis of earth is the most urgent because it has implications for the other realaities. Thsi crisis affects those who have been discriminated against for centuries. So the two are interrelated and call for immediate response.	4/18/2020 9:52 AM

160	Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities, and, Deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression. Both of these directives have to do with "who we are". That is, We are the congregation of the great love of God and given the reality that we live, we are committed to Be who we say we are as consecrated women.	4/17/2020 6:30 PM
161	Earth Crisis	4/17/2020 6:12 PM
162	Care for the earth demands attention because our collective abuse will deplete its resources well before we reach the 7th generation.	4/17/2020 6:11 PM
163	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming. This is chapter directive is most urgent because the planet earth has been neglected for centuries and as a consequence the natural winds, waters, earth are changing significantly and the changes will be catastrophic. The melting of the ice glaciers eventually could raise the oceans significantly so that those on the coast line would lose their homes. The air is undergoing contamination always, some worse than others. The fuel constantly desecrates the air. . . If we care for this generation and the next, we need to faithfully change our way of life now to address our misuse of creation. We need to think about the next generation, as well. Especially, big businesses need to be limited in their exploration and their pollutions. Fracking, obtaining oil from oceans and other water outlets, etc. Companies cutting down forests in South America and causing havoc with the indigenous people. . . 2)	4/17/2020 5:30 PM
164	The Vows as already mentioned along with using our collective voice". The word Together is every one we walk with...every one. That's what we mean when we say we are not alone....the time of the Lone Ranger is gone...	4/17/2020 5:28 PM
165	1 and 5 because they deal with our environment and ways to read many people.	4/17/2020 4:52 PM
166	The first directive on the Earth and global warming and the fourth on women. We must do something about global warming or there will be no earth for future generations. Women's voices must be heard in society and the church - support women who speak-up and those who want to change things by being elected to local, state and national positions.	4/17/2020 4:15 PM
167	Respond to the crisis of the Earth. andwork to dismantle systems. Of oppression Our world is shouting for a cure. Are we listening to what our experience is right now	4/17/2020 4:05 PM
168	Care of creation, dismantling systems of oppression. They are interwoven.	4/17/2020 4:02 PM
169	The first two. They are quite intertwined and seem to be looming ever larger in their/our urgency. The first is truly an existential imperative, and the second demands our efforts as individuals and community to create a more just world.	4/17/2020 3:49 PM
170	Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth. Walk w/women as we claim our voice and work toward an inclusive church and society.	4/17/2020 3:48 PM

173	1 and 2	4/17/2020 3:35 PM

177	Global warming. Our planet needs our protection.	4/17/2020 2:41 PM
178	Authentically love our vows which is related to live authentically our identity and charism. Much of the conversation At different times during the chapter was a call to be who we say we are. We often speak of unifying love and struggle with this among us and among provinces. We have an opportunity to live communion - oneness without losing oneself and with diversity. I hope we can trust each other into a new way of being with each other that is more honest, transparent and above all caring. The second is care of the earth for all the obvious reasons. and we can learn from the earth about interdependence and collaboration	4/17/2020 2:40 PM
179	1. Respond to the crisis of Earth and Global warning. Everything we need to know we can learn from Earth. If we don't have a healthy Earth nothing else is going to matter. 2. Uses our collective voice to accompany others in speaking the truth. Do what SISTERS RISING WORLDWIDE are doing. Raise our collective voice and combine with other religious communities and we will be the strongest voice on the panet.	4/17/2020 2:35 PM
180	Global warming is a major crises that is critical to the lives of all people and animals. Dismantling oppression is necessary in US first and then the world.	4/17/2020 2:35 PM

182	commom cause and lliving authentic livees of se rvicce	4/17/2020 2:30 PM
183	They are all urgent but these are the two I have chosen: Walk with women... and Use our collective voice... I chose the one relating to women because the situation of women being second class citizens still has a long way to go in being corrected. It seems it is in the DNA of Church hierarchy that women are "not equal." And it frustrates and angers me that this attitude is not even realized by men. The same is in our secular society.	4/17/2020 2:21 PM
184	No. 1 and 2. Our global situation is so in peril and we need to help address this. Also, injustice and oppression need to be alievieted	4/17/2020 2:19 PM

187	Respond to Crisis of Earth and Authentically live vows	4/17/2020 2:04 PM
188	#1 and #4 as listed in previous answer. The environmental crisis is moving so fast and the poor and 3rd world countries will be hurt the most. As for the role of women, there are still barriers and blocks to meaningful contributions to the church and society	4/17/2020 1:41 PM
189	Earth Crisis and dismantling systems of oppression.unless we are actively conscious of thesee Two topics and educate ourselves of howto call attention to their importance and respond on every level each one is capable of we will ultimately live under the influence of the power of the one percenters anddestroy	4/17/2020 1:30 PM
190	1. Global warming--this is urgent and time is running out; the other points become moot and failure to address it will add to oppression of all kinds. 2. Use voice to accompany others-- whatever we do, we should look for others with common goals, values, purposes and join with them for more effective response.	4/17/2020 12:08 PM
191	I've numbered the directives from top to bottom as listed above. The two I feel are most important are numbers 2 and 3. 2: If we become truly aware of how we are complicit in	4/17/2020 11:45 AM furthering oppression, THEN we can do something about it. So education and examples and challenges can change us if we are willing. Numbers 1, 4 and 5 will be addressed within that framework. 3: Just as directive 2 deepens our understanding, directive 3 requires us to respond. Action hopefully follows the knowledge.

192	Earth (see above) and walk with women. So many women carry the burdens of life without resources they need, not to mention being treated equally.	4/17/2020 11:13 AM

194	1 and 3	4/17/2020 7:07 AM
195	The first and 3rd	4/17/2020 1:12 AM
196	First, I think responding to the crisis of Earth and global warming is most urgent because we have so little time to effect any change. We also have a lot of influence by our witness to move other groups of people to greater awareness and to take action. Secondly, using our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth is important because so many people suffer injustice and have no voice. This is how we carry out our mission to serve the dear neighbor.	4/16/2020 7:46 PM
197	1) respond to the crisis of Earth 2) accompany those who are speaking their truth	4/16/2020 6:55 PM
198	Respond to the crisis of the Earth. Our survival depends on it. The other is Deepen our awareness of systems of oppression because we recognize our need for conversion and we bring hope to others in realizing their dreams for survival and wellness.n	4/16/2020 6:10 PM
199	Earth and global warming because if the earth fails us, then what will sustain us? Poverty will reign.	4/16/2020 4:05 PM
200	1. Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming – because otherwise, what planet do we plan to live on? 2. Deepening awareness of our complicity and working toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression- because it seems that all the other directives can be grouped under this umbrella. This covers speaking for women, walking with the oppressed, accompanying others and helping them to speak their truth, and so on.	4/16/2020 2:20 PM
201	1. Respond to crisis of Earth & Global warming because I think our recent fires and viruses may be caused by this. 2. Articulate and live our vows because that is what speaks to the world about what we are supposed to be and do.	4/16/2020 12:39 PM
202	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming and use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth.	4/16/2020 12:35 PM
203	1. Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities. I believe this is very important because it touches each of our lives in a very personal way. 2. Deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantle interlocking systems of oppression. I'm referring especially to the problem of trafficking.	4/16/2020 12:31 PM
204	The first two: global warming and systems of oppression	4/16/2020 11:59 AM
205	Global warming and systems of oppression.	4/16/2020 11:52 AM
206	Climate change and authentic living of the vows.	4/16/2020 11:41 AM
207	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming because it is a matter of life on this planet. Articulate and authentically live our vows because we can give hope to the world and inspire people to live deeper Gospel values.	4/16/2020 11:39 AM
208	Earth and Global warming. Inclusive church and society. All of the above are urgent but for me these two stand out. Why? Global warming-as signs our earth that God gave us to care for is in DANGER. At 94 hurtful exclusiveness has been my experiences as a consecrated woman (and able) to be treated like a second-class citizen in this church that I love!	4/16/2020 11:24 AM
209	1. Crisis of the Earth and 2. Deepen awareness of our complicity. . .	4/16/2020 11:23 AM
210	Responding to the crisis of Earth and global warming -- because it needs to happen and we can do something about it -- ourselves and by our example and encouragement to others -- AND living our vows because when we do, we do impact the lives of others	4/16/2020 11:18 AM
211	Obviously the Crisis of Earth and Global Warming but all I can do is pray that world leaders will wake up and stop the ruination of jungles, forest, and the creatures within them. I pray daily for the women and children who are treated worse than animals but at 96 what else can I do?	4/16/2020 11:02 AM

Chapter Directives Survey

212	1- Respond to crisis of Earth and global warming- all of us can do practical things in our homes and work places that contribute to saving our planet; and we can all feel and see to varying degrees the changes in the weather patterns in the climate that are impacting where we live and in the world. 2- Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth- we can start at "home" where we live and work- it is something we can all do/practice to some extent among ourselves and with others.	4/16/2020 10:52 AM
213	• Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming, The current crisis as made us so much more aware of our connection to the whole world and earth and it is the best time to challenge ourselves to greater reflection on Laudato Si and to make life-changing choices • Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities, These days we say our lives will never be the same and I think the same is true of religious life – we will need to live it just as authentically but in new ways – I want to do this with others and figure it out with others not in isolation.	4/16/2020 10:47 AM
214	I think that the two most urgent ones -- urgent because the future of our society, maybe of humanity itself, depends on a positive response to the first two directives -- so that we can slow/stop climate change and save our Earth; and so that we can stop the many forms of prejudice that divide us, obstructing the gospel call to unity.	4/15/2020 10:30 PM
215	The first two again--and the other three would be addressed as well.	4/15/2020 5:14 PM
216	Respond to thr crisis of Earth and global warming. This is important in our world today as written in Laudato Si. Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities. We need to witness a way of life that is counter culture.	4/15/2020 2:05 PM
217	The two chapter directives I consider most urgent are to Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming and Deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling intrlocking systems of oppression. WHY? Global warming is destroying Earth. We need to be swift in addressing this crisis. Racism is rampant in our world. All of us need to acknowledge our complicity and work to dismantle all systems of oppression.	4/15/2020 1:57 PM
218	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming and Walk with women as we claim our voice and work toward an inclusive church and society	4/15/2020 1:52 PM

221	They are all important	4/15/2020 8:58 AM
222	Walk with women. ..	4/15/2020 5:08 AM
223	The first 2. One is the survival of the planet. The second for the survival of our mission and values.	4/14/2020 9:15 PM
224	#1 and #2- we need to be reminded that we are all one.	4/14/2020 6:36 PM
225	I chose Deepening awareness and walking with women because I think they cover the other directives somewhat.	4/14/2020 4:51 PM
226	1) "Respond to the criSIS OF EARTH and global warming." The future of the human race depends on doing so. We must be concerned for people who follow us, must presere the earth for all posterity. 2) "Use our collective voice in accompanying others in speaking their truth." We must recognize our own prejudices, put them aside, and listen and consider other truths. t preserve	4/14/2020 4:41 PM

228	The second one dealing with dismantling systems of oppression and the 4th one on working toward an inclusive church.	4/14/2020 4:07 PM
229	Walk with women... and work toward an inclusive church and society. Boldly use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking the truth.	4/14/2020 3:53 PM
230	The second and fifth - addressing interlocking systems of oppression and walking with those to speak their truth.	4/14/2020 3:34 PM
231	#1 Earth and #2 Oppressive Systems	4/14/2020 3:30 PM

232	Earth and Women's Voices. Domestic violence, poverty, justice are all tied to how we safeguard the health of the Earth.	4/14/2020 2:29 PM
233	Sorry, I think I answered that above when I chose.	4/14/2020 11:11 AM
234	1 and 5	4/14/2020 10:00 AM
235	1 and 5	4/14/2020 9:54 AM
236	1 and 5	4/14/2020 9:45 AM
237	1 and 5	4/14/2020 9:40 AM
238	1 and 5	4/14/2020 9:40 AM
239	Earth and women's equality in the church (which supports women's lower status globally. Violence toward women is a major factor according to the UN in failing efforts in developing nations.	4/14/2020 9:25 AM
240	The first 2, they are all encompassing. The next 3 are ways in which we can work to respond to the directives.	4/13/2020 3:26 PM
241	deciding our future governance structure	4/13/2020 2:42 PM
242	Deepening awareness of complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression. Using our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth. I would like to everyone treated equally. With our collective voices we can accompany and stand with others speaking their truth.	4/13/2020 2:12 PM
243	The crisis of Earth and global warming because unless this problem is addressed and solved, all other issues will be null and void. Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities because this is what will keep our community a viable offering to our world in need.	4/13/2020 2:06 PM
244	Respond to the crisis of earth an global warming..Walk with women as we claim out voice and work toward an inclusive church and society	4/13/2020 9:45 AM
245	Women in the Church...the Church is losing ground and people in general are turned off by the rising clericalism. For the Church to regain its footing, brave people need to speak up and challenge the system. The second I would choose is the crisis of earth. We need to take the warning signs of the collapse of our environment seriously before it's too late.	4/12/2020 2:19 PM
246	At this time, I consider the first and third to be most urgent. The first has become very evident to me during the present crisis. We must respond to the the scientists who know what the're talking about. This has to be our next step once the pandemic dies down. The third directive relates (as far as I'm concerned right now) to our vow of poverty. Again, this current crisis is showing me how poor people live--and we're not even close. Nevertheless, I'm changing my ways with regard to my use of everyday essentials such as toothpaste, toilet paper, hearing aid batteries, etc. We have a vow that we live in a variety of ways but not in a way that witness to today's reality.	4/11/2020 12:49 PM
247	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming (somehow think that will help us with the one about dismantling oppressions too) And the 2nd one most imp. to me would be to authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities. Those 2 are urgent and if we live one, we live the other - they are intertwined too, and both are for the life of our dear neighbor, and the Cosmic Christ.	4/11/2020 10:50 AM
248	Keep us connected and involved in ongoing planning for the future and continue keeping us informed	4/10/2020 1:23 PM
249	All are essential. Number 3 & 4 bullet would result in action on all of the areas mentioned. #3 - society is impacted with violence and needs our witness, charism and values as religious. #4 empowerment and respect of and for the dignity of women is needed in our Church and society. As Chancellor of our diocese, I see this as a constant battle.	4/10/2020 1:17 PM
250	Numbers 1 and 4	4/10/2020 1:15 PM
251	Respond to the crisis of Earth and Global Warming and using our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth.	4/10/2020 1:00 PM

252	encourage us to LOVE ALL. Keep reminding us we are to love the dear neighbor WITHOUT DISTINCTION	4/10/2020 10:38 AM
253	First and foremost: Respond to the crises of Earth and global warming. Second: Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth.	4/10/2020 10:21 AM
254	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming. I believe also most urgent is--Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities. Why? I consider both of these most urgent because they touch the earth in its entirety, including all who inhabit the earth. The first (crisis of Earth) really goes beyond the earth to the planet. Any single action affects every bit of the planet(s) whether we are aware of this or not. We have a serious obligation to every one of the "dear neighbor" in the entire universe. Although we cannot be present, we must do all that is feasible wherever we are and with whatever limitations we live with.	4/9/2020 3:19 PM
255	The earth and dismantling structures of oppression	4/9/2020 1:58 PM
256	Issues of peace and justice are always paramount for me. However, I do understand that our planet and the environment are very important as well. We can model by our example. Personally, I think we need to be challenged to be "who we say we are" - to live simply so that others can simply live; share resources; participate in community and congregation opportunities; etc.	4/9/2020 11:00 AM
257	#1 global warming... running out of time to turn the tide #5 speaking their truth...it is a concrete way to be with the neighbor.	4/9/2020 10:57 AM
258	Number three and four! The need to move woman into leadership in the church is so important to show our young woman the importance of inclusion. And to show our young woman and men the need to speak out effectively!	4/9/2020 9:05 AM
259	The first two; if I had one choice,it would be 2	4/8/2020 1:18 PM
260	Walk with women tops my list since we have the education and poise to help other women speak their truth.	4/8/2020 10:57 AM
261	working towards dismantling interlocking systems of oppression and authentically live our vows and commitments - our culture is far too comfortable when many peoples of the world (including people in our own nation) lack clean water, medical care, etc. They depend on our left-overs, our cast-offs, token contributions. Few religious and associates have experienced these conditions in their raw reality and our sheltered lives bear little witness to the message of the gospels. To be blunt about it, we minister to each other to the detriment of the truly needy. Perhaps their needs are too frightening and we lack the skills, but I think that there are lonely people (including local children and youth) who can be served with the ordinary skills that most of us possess and to not to do so is sinful. Certainly not everyone everyone is able to take an active part due to age, health - but to bypass them in favor of those of us who already are quite comfortable is upsetting. Why are we afraid? What excuses do we use? Why are we afraid?	4/8/2020 7:45 AM
262	Earth and global warming; dismantling system of oppression. The time urgent to address global warming. The evidence of oppression is showing a ways I've never seen before. It takes a collective effort.	4/8/2020 7:20 AM
263	The two I just mentioned: protecting Mother Earth and also continuing to support and elevate women in the hard hand in community so we are not relegated to silent participants but will be recognized as competent, wise women who have leadership abilities! Also in working toward rehabilitation of women who have been abused !	4/7/2020 11:11 PM
264	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming, Deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression,	4/7/2020 9:59 PM
265	Respond boldly to speak the truth as we are all called to be prophetic	4/7/2020 7:26 PM
266	#3 and #4 which require continued awareness, education and collaboration.	4/7/2020 7:01 PM
267	The crisis of the earth and dismantling systems of oppression because if we really work on these the others will follow part of the solution.	4/7/2020 4:24 PM
268	alternative modes of future coordinating structures-collaboratives, etc	4/7/2020 4:20 PM
269	I can't decide. I think they are all urgent.	4/7/2020 4:09 PM

270	If we do not participate in responding to the Crisis of the Earth, we will longer have a planet upon which to exist. If we do not deal with and find ways to live together in harmony by dealing with dismantling interlocking systems of oppression. Our exisistence on this planet if for naught We need to pay attention and look around us and see the example given us by all systems in the universe that interact, interrelate and work in communion for the success of life of all. .	4/7/2020 3:34 PM

272	1. Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming -- because this direcive impacts the entire world and is THE most urgent issue in our world today; 2. Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities -- because this speaks directly to who we are and our future as women religious	4/7/2020 2:20 PM

274	1. Respond to the Crisis od Earth and Global warming	4/7/2020 1:57 PM
275	Responding to the crisis of the earth, and deepening awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression. These are most urgent because they are connected relationships. How we treat Earth and how we treat others add to or help dismantle destructive outcomes.	4/7/2020 1:32 PM
276	Work to dismantle systems of oppression and respond to global warming.	4/7/2020 1:31 PM
277	Earth and systems of opression	4/7/2020 1:24 PM
278	• Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming Our numbers are diminishing and we live in aging world. At this moment in history, we are probably more interconnected by communication mechanisms than ever before. We can live simply, act with justice, and respond to the environmental crises we are facing by conserving the resources that we have – utilize ZOOM, SKYPE, GO TO MEETING rather than jet planes; consolidate our leadership and finances; finding and teaching upcoming generations creative ways to restore and maintain Earth's delicate ecological balance. • Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities	4/7/2020 1:13 PM
279	Continue to work toward an inclusive church and society. Be serious about all ways we help save the earth in small ways and large as the Creator'gift to us individuals take responsibility for the crises of the earth	4/7/2020 1:13 PM
280	I believe the first two are most important. And, if I had to choose just one, I would choose the second one.	4/7/2020 1:09 PM
281	We are currently involves in discussions on the first two directives.	4/7/2020 1:05 PM
282	earth crisis- imperative for all life; deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression- awareness will reveal where we are called to love the dear neighbor	4/7/2020 12:53 PM
283	respond to the Earth crisis- reason apparent with this pandemic and dismantling interlocking systems of oppression-by continuing to write our government officials and whatever creative ways we can manage during this pandemic.	4/7/2020 12:47 PM
284	I think they all, are urgent in different ways.	4/7/2020 12:15 PM
285	1) Respond to the crisis of Earth because Laudato Si' used to implement the plan is the most Pro life (from conception to natural death) and pro-creation that we have and 2) deepen awareness of pur own complicity in forms of oppression because we are oppressing some people while claiming roles for others and do not see the oppressive action	4/7/2020 11:40 AM
286	The first three lead us down the path of being more committedly just and serving of the poor and disenfranchised. They help us give them voice and ask of us to do what is hard, but just and necessary to spread God's kingdom.	4/7/2020 11:26 AM
287	Our collective voice - Earth -	4/7/2020 10:45 AM
288	Global warming is urgent because if we don't take steps to change the direction of climate change, the next generation will be affected in more destructive ways. I also think that our	4/7/2020 10:44 AM

#	RESPONSES	DATE
1	We can respond to the crisis of earth and global warming by taking actions by using renewable energy. We can use our collective voice to accompany other in speaking their truth by working with farm workers to improve their living conditions.	5/6/2020 2:30 PM
2	How to implement directives #3 Live Our Vows and #4 Walk with Women. We could communicate with each other about "Best Practices". Where was I successful, where did I fail? we could ask for articles, videos, Zoom interest groups to share. Have divergent voices not holding my opinions speak at our gatherings. It will enlighten me.	4/27/2020 3:32 PM
3	1. Earth-tell/make public what each one and the congregation is currently doing and ask the question what more could you/we do. 2. Oppression-look at investments, hiring practices publicly question church's policy of inequality.	4/27/2020 3:19 PM
4	#3 First prayerful reflection; be aware of today's realities; gather to share ideas (realistic and far-fetched) in small groups moving to larger group; and implement. #4 Religious and Laity merge. "Together we are stronger".	4/27/2020 3:09 PM
5	from National Geographic 3/20/2020: 2/3 of everything we take from the earth is wasted. Use plastic to rebuild schools. recycle. Refurbish. Reuse. Repair. Fly and drive less. Eat all the food you buy. Wear the clothes you already have. Avoid single-use plastic.	4/27/2020 3:03 PM
6	I don't know folds in other provinces and I find it hard to travel. But it would be great to share on line. If on some particular topic we could write a one-sentence statement of how we're "living it out" it would probably be very inspiring to me. #5 (personal) Given my own limitations I see myself (and others) spending time with our senior sisters (or sisters at Carondelet Center younger than I) to listen and share..	4/27/2020 11:45 AM
7	Again, numbers 3 & 4 are the two directives that I would like to see the St. Louis Province address. Note: I say "province", not "congregation". My hope is that we invite each group as listed on page 2 to address the majority of the stated directives sent in by their group. My concern is that we are bypassing the culture of each province/group and moving to a "congregational" implementation. Because of this concern, I will not address the next two issues.	4/27/2020 11:35 AM
8	1. Earth crisis-to take seriously those who speak out, to affirm them by letter, e-mail, phone, etc. To keep ourselves informed and questioning. To take the time to study and reflect on these matters, political decisions, and to speak out when we disagree. to more closely follow the lead of our Justice Peace and Integrity communications. 2. Collective voice-affirm newscasters who question decisions, treatment of women reporters, truth of reports and news briefs.	4/27/2020 11:14 AM
9	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming. We look at our own use of land/ do energy and resource audit in each unit. We travel less and use technology more. We join others to advocate for climate justice and look at our investments to put our money in more green economy. We have to also truly reduce consumption across all resources! Deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression: Again we take a serious look at our own behaviors and systems from personal, to interpersonal, to internal processes/assumptions to societal systems. It continues to expand from personal awareness to systems thinking. Get outside professional assistance to help us do our work, but we have to be courageous enough to look at our privilege and make changes. Also, partner with justice organizations that see the intersectionality of race, gender, ecology.	4/27/2020 9:58 AM
10	Care of the Earth ... share briefly how it is being implemented in all the provinces. When we have too many words, it's all head and no heart so there is no action.	4/25/2020 1:59 PM
11	• Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming, • Deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression, then use our collective voice	4/24/2020 10:59 AM
12	Join the world to respond to the crisis of Earth. The United States must join the world to bring our earth back to the way God made it. Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth. The Mercy Sisters are doing a great job with the internet. We need to be open to others who differ with our thinking.	4/24/2020 10:16 AM
13	Respond to crisis of earth	4/24/2020 10:12 AM
14	For both we need to broaden the dialogue so we hear from experts in these fields who will move us beyond.... We are waaaay past thinking we can do this solely as CSJs.	4/24/2020 10:10 AM

Chapter Directives Survey

15	Crisis of earth-Be very aware of recycling-recycle what we can do. Use of collective voice of women -encourage women to speak what they believe in.	4/24/2020 10:08 AM
16	1. Earth Crisis: Discontinue use of plastic bags. Reduce consumption of material goods. Better understanding and use of computer and reduce travel @ home and between provinces. 2. Living our vows: Getting to know our neighbor and encourage info regarding the earth crisis. Reduce consumption. More common prayer.	4/24/2020 10:07 AM
17	Support out attending professional conferences on environmental justice to gain knowledge about the ways climate change exacerbates health inequalities. Be local volunteers in wildlife rehabilitation centers and citizen science activities. Support women being ordained as deacons.	4/24/2020 10:05 AM
18	The above could be focus for sharing our experiences and reflection... a simple survey, asking us each: in what actions we are living and investing to grow integral ecology Francis talks about in Laudato Sí- sharing results with us could inspire us all to do more, particularly actions to confront racism in our communities, church, ministries.... Zoom conversations about what forms of power and privilege the virus may be inviting us as religious communities of women to let go of.... We could read Ilia Delio's short piece on Transformation (E-Designs, April 17) and share what provocative insights it offers us....	4/24/2020 10:00 AM
19	Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth. I don't have any samples but I believe it would be a stronger voice collectively as a whole.	4/24/2020 9:57 AM
20	1. If we do not respond to the crisis of the earth: the earth needs healing. During our being at home-not many cars on the road-the sky is so blue and clear-living at CC we do a lot of car-pooling, waiting for one another when going to doctors, shopping. I can be a little more patient with others. 2. As one voice in solidarity with our collective voice: I walk with different sisters in Holy Family that are unable to speak. To share-I walk and speak with them to get their ideas or wants met. One way to accompany others in speaking their truth is to "listen with the ears of our heart", to listen deeply to what's others are sharing with us or me. To continue my call in the ministry of support staff for Holy Family Community by using my gifts generously by: As a Vitas Hospice Volunteer-by sitting with our sisters who are dying.	4/24/2020 9:55 AM
21	1. Walk with women-with our csj community... Unity with diversity can work-distance can be a challenge that unites us "to the more" 2. Use our collective voices... "Where 2 or 3 are gathered" our csj voices are strong.	4/24/2020 9:52 AM
22	I'm not sure of the directives or any ideas I might have. I believe those who are realizing all is done in small communities who believe the same way about the road ahead. Small communities (ex. Jerusalem Farm, Interfaith communities, young people) who are taking issues seriously and joining forces. Such groups attract others by their Mission and Action. I believe we should get individuals who have a passion (and probably are already reaching out) because they have the gift. I am minded of those Sisters who individually went to the missions, and fulfilled their life's work. Many prophets are in our communities and are energized to continue to bring Life to this world.	4/24/2020 9:50 AM
23	1. Women: watch the way/ways we spend $$$$ We are really fortunate to CSJ Community, their generosity $$, etc., etc., etc. 2. Complicity: we must stand tall and be ready to be counted!!	4/24/2020 9:40 AM
24	At this point of my life, I need to keep educated and pray.	4/24/2020 9:38 AM
25	Do not have any new ideas to offer	4/24/2020 9:36 AM
26	Sorry to be so late. I really have little energy filling this out in light of my present lived reality...with no end in sight. From the chapter directives, two give me energy. Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming. Deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling THE interlocking systems of oppression. Without the article THE it appears that some systems of oppression are not interlocking. Please consider changing this.	4/23/2020 2:24 PM
27	Read/re-read Laudato Si and commentaries, use existing resources to study, reflect and share in (Zoom) groups in ways that lead us to action in our personal use of natural resources and in advocating for healing of Earth on broader levels. For the Climate issue, wouldn't it be nice if we were able to do something tangible throughout the Congregation. Maybe the action-umbrella could be large enough to accomodate a variety of ways but the same focus. For the Racism issue, I would suggest a common self-examination tool as a prayer committment; no one likes to think of herself as a Racist or complicit in the interlocking systems of opression but we all need to examine our souls honestly in order to change.	4/22/2020 2:43 PM

We have taken Toni Nash's course on the internet as a community. Her course updates us on the science behind the religious stand. Racism needs to be broaden and deepened in our understanding. We need to continue this deepening. In my experience we still approach these topics from within our religious circles it needs to get more secular in our approaches.	4/22/2020 12:19 AM

At the same time realize that systemic change happens slowly and, I believe, starts with human hearts, individually and/or collectively. we are doing now has the potential to address interlocking systems of oppression (formal education in pre-school/school/university settings; social services offered/staffed by CSJs and/or partners in ministry; the Joseph Worker program; chaplaincy in hospitals/nursing homes; to name a few). Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming. Be willing to look at the inconsistencies of our life style in relation to use of resources: water, food, electricity, transportation, technology, health care, but realistically. E.g., Do I really want to forgo indoor plumbing or the little green lights on the Wi-Fi or travel to see friends, especially when dying or celebrating?

39	Again I look at these as related - and wonder as the poem of today expressed why not soar? Do we dare stand behind those who have a voice but are not heard - do we support movements such as black lives matter or other community based groups - or do we think we need to be the leaders - can we sit back in a position of support Can we raise our voices as women of the church and continue to speak out against abuses of power - can we stand with our LGBTQIA brothers and sisters. Can we speak out against a system that continues to bestow its highest rewards on those who already have (the corporations getting major pieces of the most recent covid relief? Are we aware in our state, county and city politics who really has the power and whose voices are not heard? How do we address the racism and white privilege and attitude of colonization so prevalent in our everyday life and in our politics. How do we recognize the privilege we have?	4/21/2020 10:20 PM

42	Articulate and authentically live our vows/commitments in ways that witness and speak to today's realities. Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth, These 2 directives and Walking with Women . . . are directives where we can bring unique and credible voices and leadership to bear. CSJ has recognized presence in our local community and among healthcare, educational and religious institutions. We are not recognized by the civic community as leaders in ecological justice or work dismantling interlocking systems of oppression. The Social Justice offices of the Congregation might consider putting out different calls for action each week so that sisters/ACOF could make a numerically significant impact on legislators/elected officials (e.g. week 1:contact legislators on immigrant detentions; week 2:email your governor on releasing nonviolent prisoners). We could partner with other religious communities in more public actions for justice. Do a "drive" for NETWORK sign-ups -- to have much more significant responses to their calls for action. Personally, we certainly care -- and act -- on a large variety of justice issues. As a Province -- and as a Congregation -- perhaps we need a determination on HOW we advocate for justice. There are different ways to partner with those working on the front lines and the fringes of our society. In which areas/issues are we the LEAD (with high visibility and leadership, significant expertise and highly credible knowledge, day-to-day involvement in the work of moving an issue: including strategy and legislative development). Where do we SUPPORT issues/organizations (with moderate visibility, engagement largely through coalition partnership, commitment to educate our community on the issue and opportunities to engage). And where do we ENDORSE/MONITOR (by being informed but minimally involved, with formal institutional support by attaching our name, by maintaining current knowledge of the issue and its status with an eye toward potential involvement). We need honesty in determining where we can contribute as unique and powerful witnesses/workers/voices -- and where we are committed and courageous followers. And where as a community we take a bold stand.	4/21/2020 7:05 PM

46	We in the San Francisco area sponsored the workshop by Ingrid, Angela and Donna on White Supremacy It was well attended and provocative. As a local community (6 sisters) we are reading and discussing White Fragility. As individuals we had been reading and praying over Laudato Si. We have the advantage of having a Sr. of St. Joseph from Australia with us, and her presence, studies and activities assist us in learning and moving along. i am grateful for whatever the Congregation does, but really the desire for change and movement toward it happens at the local level. But keep on inspiring and prodding us.	4/21/2020 4:35 PM

48	1. The St. Louis Province chose "dismantling racism" as a focus for two or three years. We have a number of committees and events planned including our JOE talks, Assembly speaker, and an invitation for immersion. 2. The current pandemic makes us even more aware that we are all connected and that we are responsible for the care of our dear neighbor and the earth. We must find ways to work together for the common good of all.	4/21/2020 3:04 PM
49	The above could be focus for sharing our experiences and reflection... a simple survey, asking us each: in what actions we are living and investing to grow integral ecology Francis talks about in Laudato Si- sharing results with us could inspire us all to do more, particularly actions to confront racism in our communities, church, ministries.... Zoom conversations about what forms of power and privilege the virus may be inviting us as religious communities of women to let go of.... We could read Ilia Delio's short piece on Transformation (E-Designs, April 17) and share what provocative insights it offers us....	4/21/2020 3:01 PM
50	1. As the whole congregation, become an environmental activist. Advocate for better healthier agricultural practices, water use, and clean energy. Begin with serious education. Sr. Lin Neil's work is a good starting point. Put her workshops in webinars for the entire congregation. Invest in serious education. 2. Step up a competent legislative advocacy system. Teach effective methods of writing personal emails to congress & legis. 3. Break down our blindness to our complicity in racism-not only blacks but across ethnic and cultural divides. Then become anti-racist working to dismantle racist oppressive structures, policies & institutions. Work for deep change at local levels, as well as national.	4/21/2020 2:52 PM

52	1. Walk with women as we claim our voice and work toward an inclusive church and society; 2. Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth. An idea for both: Have periodic zoom and/or webinar opportunities to have intra-congregational conversations and to share summaries of those conversations on congregational website.	4/21/2020 2:06 PM
53	Push for continued collaboration, such as the JPIC committee members do so faithfully. See what we can actually DO, no just sign things and go to protests and vigils. Are there places where (we) should be making our voices heard? Beyond recycling, get involved with young people, who really buy into this one. This one is a difficult one for me, balanced as I am between love for my Church and realization that it believes, preaches, and implements the conviction that women are and always will be unworthy members. I'm less bothered (on my good days) by ordination than I am by policy and decision-making-from which women are always excluded since these decisions are all made by bishops, etc. So I look to you, dear CLT!!!	4/21/2020 1:19 PM

56	Share and support each other with ways to live simply and to encourage care for earth. Invite sisters and associates to share their ideas and commitments. Read and discuss Laudato Si throughout the Congregation. #4 Speak to the issues of women in society and in the church. Find support groups we can join to speak to these issues.	4/21/2020 12:22 PM
57	Each of the provinces and vice province of Peru have long been implementing the directive on the crisis of earth in some way. Each has members who belong to a group or groups which are effective: e.g. Catholic Climate Covenant. Our prayer for earth? Earth Day is a good start; all of the worldwide attention being given to Laudato Si is another. Often speakers are brought in. Would it be feasible for a member of the Congregational Leadership Team to select one of our own or another who can lead us deeper into Laudato Si as a congregation? What of hearing from our Federation representative at the United Nations? Interactions between younger members of the congregation and those who have more years can be a valuable means of articulating "how we live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities. member always bring that theme to a meeting with a local community or group during their visit throughout the congregation could be very helpful.

In this time of lockdowns and physical distancing, we can't have gatherings to educate and plan. Continue to use ZOOM and other media technology. We need find ways to involve those who do not use computers. .	4/20/2020 8:37 PM

64	THE ORDER OF THESE QUESTIONS WAS REVERSED This the answer to Cong. Leadership: At this time of crisis, and following so soon after the LA fire, it is difficult to look to the future. The present preoccupies most of us. Maybe we need time for the dust to settle, and to offer thanks and remind ourselves we are the Congregation of the Great Love of God, then look beyond ourselves to a world in need.	4/20/2020 6:22 PM
65	Again, I'm choosing the first two directives. I, for one, haven't been active in any groups that have been working on crisis of Earth and global warming. I would like to get more informed about what the provinces and the congregation have been actively doing in this area. Who have we partnered with in this effort and what legislation has been affected or accomplished because of the work CSJs and other women religious have been involved in? Same thing for working with systems of oppression.	4/20/2020 6:12 PM
66	Sorry, I don't have specific ideas. I enjoy reading about other's dreams and projects, hope I affirm them and give encouragement. I have to admit I'm having a hard time reading Laudato Si which I know pretty well from hearing so much about it, and trying to live it. And I confess I have not yet read the book on racism. But I see racism every day in the newspapers and on TV, and I am horrified by our world. We're not having cluster right now during the pandemic, or any other gatherings. It's a bit hard to work on this in isolation.	4/20/2020 5:49 PM
67	Environmental concerns: review and renew our efforts that have been previously stated and done. Living our vows: encourage the reading and study of part 1: Life in our constitutions and complementary document--at least the essence of what is there.	4/20/2020 4:36 PM
68	I am only choosing the directive to use our collective voice because I feel that it gives us the chance to address all of the other directives as a congregation and/or in collaboration with other groups. I think having online meetings to share issues and how best to use our voice would be helpful to me.	4/20/2020 4:30 PM
69	Publish stories that demonstrate what is happening in a specific unit/region. Generate a list of "ways to be involved" for each directive.	4/20/2020 4:16 PM
70	1) Eather care: keep pulling together from across the congregation good resources, people, events, communications, readings that address background and best practices on this topic; provide funds for people to attend significant events; bring significant speakers who can address ecological issues in person and via zoom; rotate provincial locations; encourage members to write for publication; include at least one suggestion in every congregational communication [cn be short!] ; have a stream of suggestions for reading, liturgical planning, parish projects, etc. in the congregational communications 2) Women's issues: encourage members to attend, organize, promote events related to the concerns of women they know;	4/20/2020 3:47 PM

write about women's issues; seek out or say "yes" to invitations to preach; create women's prayer groups [can be small and home sized and simple]; share resources for reading, acting

71	The Environment: Education and awareness public sessions: our status earns trust and we can both raise awareness and suggest actions. Oppressive systems, so well revealed during the covid 19 pandemic, need to be struck in every way possible; a unified response from Carondelet would get notice, I know. Yes, a digital rally across the country by us and maybe the federation or/and lcwr. WOUldn't you have fun organizing that (you asked for suggestions).	4/20/2020 3:46 PM
72	Crisis of the earth. Recognize the importance of everyday actions	4/20/2020 3:40 PM
73	If the bullet points were numbered, I would choose #3 vows speak to today's realities. Today people are in opposing camps around many issues. I would like to hear from people who do not have my opinions and learn how to seek unity among diversity. #4 Walk with women... what if the women say to us: "Leave the church, overthrow Society". Do I choose women who agree with my way. Can I develop a deep listening heart? I want the CLT to model unity with diversity as they deal with each other and with the Community of St. Joseph	4/20/2020 3:30 PM
74	The earth: * Inform all P/LP of key presentations on this and related topics that are in print or on YouTube or TED Talks, etc. (available to all). * Encourage recycling/regifting. I recently became aware of a recycle warehouse in St. Louis that purposefully recycles locally numerous items for use by teachers, K-12 students home-schooled or classroom taught, craft-focused individuals, etc. We now put little in our alley recycle bin, but rather take time to clean and delabel everything that we take to "Leftovers". Also give used clothing/accessories to local parishes that give it directly to the poor at no cost. * Encourage composting by everyone! * Organize car trips to grocery store, bank, library, visiting, etc. and take the shortest distance rather than the fastest. Oppression: Find local parishes, organizations, college/universities, etc. what are doing presentations/activities, etc and join them. Not necessary to reinvent the wheel; together we are more. Reading lists of books/articles are very helpful. Participate in appropriate petition signing, write letters to your legislators, find out what's happening at your state capital or local government and at your local colleges/universities.	4/20/2020 3:23 PM

77	I choose using our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth. I am only choosing one to support the two directives I consider most urgent. Actually, using our collective voice as a congregation and/or in collaboration with other groups is a very effective way to help support any/all of the chapter directives. I would like to see us hold some strategy conferencing sessions to plan when and how we exercise our collective voice.	4/20/2020 2:21 PM
78	Articulate and authentic Walk with women as we claim our voice and work toward an inclusive church and society, Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth. These are the two directives that most resonate with me. Ways that I think we can accomplish these points within today' world are to remain faithful to "institutional church attendance" and create small groups of women to talk about ways the church could become more relevant to them and their spiritual needs. Assist them in creating a means to remain in dialogue with the clergy and the "powers to be". Support them and expand their understanding of the baptismal call we have all received. As for how we can maintain an approach to give voice to the voiceless of today's society, I believe it is important that we identify for ourselves who these groups are and find how our passion can parallel their need.	4/20/2020 12:56 PM
79	We need to be clear on what those bold steps would be and who would do it!	4/20/2020 12:55 PM

80	Continue responding to the Earth and global warming in our daily lives and encourage others to practice the same. And dismantling systems of oppression on a large scale are better carried out by Leadership teams and Sisters experienced in systemic change and for me supporting these leaders and sisters through prayer, awareness, and education.	4/20/2020 12:44 PM
81	Respond to te crisis of Earth and global warming; Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities. In both cases, I sugget inter-congregational committees/task forces/interest groups create or surface some practical ideas that can be adapted and actualized in the units.	4/20/2020 12:37 PM
82	More than anything, we need to deepen our awareness of the roots of most of these problems. For instance, the rape/treatment of the Earth stems from the same roots of a misguided anthropology and misogeny as does the tape/treatment of women.	4/20/2020 12:03 PM
83	climate change - reduce our carbon footprint. Inventory current status by region, set targets, monitor, and publish how much each region has reduced carbon. Systems of oppression - have ritual acknowledging our complicity, seek forgiveness and address how we will reduce our "white privilege"	4/20/2020 11:59 AM
84	Continue to work with other Earth groups to call attention to the needs of our home. Partner with other groups who are seeking to open the ordained priesthood to all people.	4/20/2020 11:52 AM
85	Actually, for both (or all) of these directives, I believe if we could have a growing awareness of what others are already doing ... we could join our collective energies and continue what is being done or reach out to what else could be added. I guess I was thinking of a gathering of ideas (data) so that we are aware of efforts already underway and move toward those which could or would enhance what we are already accomplishing.	4/20/2020 11:51 AM
86	For the same two above, our book club has been intentional about reading materials dealing with racism. Our time together has opened my eyes and made me more aware of how I have been complicit as a white person, especially in use of language that unintentionally may have been insensitive to my African-American brothers and sisters. Regarding saving the Planet, it is important to be informed and to hold corporations accountable regarding how they dispose of toxic waste, write to Congress, push for solar energy, etc. Continue to keep up on the issue, encourage those who implement clean energy, etc.	4/20/2020 11:48 AM
87	Look at how we obtain electricity in New York State. Look for clean energy ourselves and alert others. Contact our elected federal and state and county representatives and lobby for solar and wind energy. Since the pandemic plastic bags have returned. As Covid 19 is conquered our Crisis on trash and garbage dumping is destroying land and water. Live a less wasteful life style. Health care free for all. Change our extensive military budget, lobby other nations do the same and use money for citizens, all citizens for health care, education, free medicine, educate doctors, dentists And colleges education. Use our taxes for peace time use, for the people, not the wealthy. We need to lobby for the rights of all, on line, mail, with zoom, in the streets...	4/20/2020 11:45 AM
88	Choose just one action that, across the congregation, we can work on and speak as one unified congregation. That can be for any topic but earth might be the single issue that has our full body of support. It certainly had that at Chapter. Might we, as a congregation, ever have the courage to allow the CLT to speak on our behalf in support of some current newsworthy person/issue relating to race or a person speaking his/her truth as a public way of standing with someone in a minority position?	4/20/2020 11:42 AM
89	I don't know. My life is so focused on staying home, helping neighbors, getting food and encouraging all who risking life for others. It is hard to focus on bigger picture when right now the virus is top priority. I know that isn't true in the Midwest.	4/20/2020 11:37 AM
90	This is a challenge since each unit experiences the climate differently; however, we could learn from each other best practices. Voices of truth can be highlighted with suggestions of support.	4/20/2020 11:37 AM
91	We need to continue the education about dismantling. Many programs were cancelled during the Covid crisis. As new legislation appears we need to discuss how it impacts the poor and support the groups that work toward positive impacts. Our representatives and senators are key. Educating ourselves on their voting records are key. Corporate America wins with the current president. Those leaders who fall in line must be voted out and new members voted in. We can continue our efforts to support programs to educate others about these issues. We need facts, not just opinions.	4/20/2020 11:34 AM force in speaking out on major issues as Care of the Earth, immigration, women's role in church, etc. We need to do more of this. Following the last Chapter we heard much feedback on the openness present in the delegate and others to contemplative dialogue concerning governance. Could we find ways of having that same openness in response to the directive on vowed life?

93	1) Articulate and authentically live our vows etc... Implementation: have a total Congregational Spiritual Renewal with particular focus on the Vows. Since this epidemic is global touching every corner of the earth where our Sisters are experiencing this changes our realities which should impact the way we live our vows today and into the future. a few suggested individuals for this renewal: ... Sister Mary McKay..... Sister Barbara Dreher..... Sister Carol Zinn... ... Sister Darlene Kawulok....Sister Ida Robertine....Sister Ingrid Honore-LallandeSister Suzanne Jabro....Sister Jeanne Marie Gocha ...Sister Sally Koch (who is waiting to become professed) and then of course other Sisters across the Congregation whom I do not know who would be of great service to us. Most important 2nd Directive:"Use our collective voice to accompany" Implementation: This all goes back as to how we live our vows in the realities of times. Once again a Spiritual renewal across the Congregation would embrace this directive.	4/20/2020 10:58 AM
94	For all of these directives, I would invite our sisters/ACOF to initiate ZOOM groups to talk/work together on the chapter directive that they are most passionate about. Let each group work together on areas of interest/ initiatives and they can take the leadership/responsibility for the implementation.	4/20/2020 10:42 AM

96	"We are in this together". Covid-19 and this is the same with so many other issues and it does affect so many others and if we speak as a group, we have so much more power. this is especially true with our declining numbers and ages of our sisters. We can benefit from working across provinces by sharing our ideas, hopes and ways we can work together. this could be committees using zoom conferences, meeting in provinces, writing, researching and encouraging others to participate in ways they are comfortable with. I have found simply by phone conversations and listening to what others are experiencing and how they view situations, broadens my perspectives We need to look at our ministries in the light of is this still a viable ministry? Can we afford to continue funding every one? Are there other ways these people can be served? In the light of the covid-19 are we needed in other ways to meet the needs of the people today? Are we stuck in what we have done for years and there are no new works? What is possible considering numbers, ages, health and energy? Maybe our bodies are wearing out but not our minds? How can we work across provinces to share ideas, energy, $$$ etc.	4/20/2020 10:00 AM

98	Global warming, the COVID-19 pandemic with its effects on the very heart of our liturgical celebrations	4/20/2020 8:54 AM
99	1) "Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities": I believe we need to have a deep conversation about what it means to be a vowed religious today. It seems that we have yet to integrate personal needs, personal freedom and our vows. The current situation regarding the coronavirus is a good example. We have implemented numerous restrictions "for the good of the whole", but many sisters seem to think that they are "suggestions" and/or that there personal wants and needs supercede the good of the whole. We need leadership that challenges us, as well as affirms us. Perhaps this topic could be the theme of a congregation-wide effort, through community weekend type gatherings, or cross congregational zoom calls, or the aforementioned intra-congregational gatherings. 2) Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming: We have begun to address this issue in many ways...most of them through individual efforts. We (I) need to continue to act on our increasing awareness.	4/20/2020 8:45 AM

105	1) crisis of earth and global warming. In our province as probably is the case in other provinces, we have recycling and composting, energy saving commitments and are urged to stay informed about climate change and be part of initiatives working for dramatic changes. The advantage of being a congregation is that we have power and influence working with national and international groups to challenge the corporate, industrial groups that are the greatest threat to the planet. For example, plastic producers need to be confronted, and we need to ask questions about the results of our recycling efforts. Congregational leaders have the power and tools to gather up province efforts to work with other religious and civic political efforts to effect necessary and urgent changes to save the planet. As a congregation we need to focus on how to have the largest and fastest collective impact.	4/19/2020 6:50 PM

111	The directives mentioned above could be used as topics for the intracongregational gatherings; continue to take public stands but invite the Sisters and ACOF to be active participants in contacting local leaders; be more active in Sisters of the Earth; choose themes for education and action through the newsletter.	4/19/2020 4:31 PM

115	If a group of local sisters, or a regional grouping, initiate some activity related to our "being with" others in a specific segment of society, open those initiatives to any member of the CSJ/ACOF from any geographical area.	4/19/2020 2:29 PM
116	Two directives: 1. Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming: "If the Earth goes, we ALL go!" – quote from S. Marion Honors - Each of us needs to examine our lifestyle and see where we are falling short. An intercongregational group could be formed and a checklist drawn up by them and presented to every member of the Congregation. Members would commit to doing what they are able to do to respond to the crisis. (If stories could be told by individuals who have experienced the impact of any of the specific crises, -either through personal appearances of individuals or through the use of technology – I believe there would be more of an impact in showing the need for change on each one's part.) 2. Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth. I recently read Time Magazine's issue (March 16) of 100 years of "Women/Persons of the Year". What a powerful witness of what 'woman is capable of'! We CSJs also have women who have lived and brought about amazing accomplishments in the past. We need to know what our Sisters are doing TODAY, their struggles and determination to bring about justice in many fields. Is there some way the stories of the work/ministry of these women (and ACOF, too – both women and men) might be presented over the next few years, along with ways that we might be supportive in accompanying them?	4/19/2020 2:23 PM
117	Earth crisis--join groups with similar goals; Racism-more experiential education.	4/19/2020 1:43 PM
118	We need to really study what science is saying about global warming and find practical ways to educate ourselves and others to provide concrete actions that are possible for everyone to do. We need up to date education in ways to witness our vows in today's world.	4/19/2020 12:43 PM
119	Respond to the earth by both doing all we can to protect it and being well informed and spreading the word as much as possible. The next directive seems to include the last two. Once again it is important to be well informed about the underlying structures which need to be changed. I.e.	4/19/2020 11:54 AM
121	#3 'live our vows' The most powerful influence we have as people of God is the model of how we live. I'm most rewarded when I see my children do things that I have done or repeat things that I know they have heard from me. I learned early when raising them that lectures or long 'teachings' did not work, but they caught what I modeled. It's important to look like we are doing God's work. Think of the people that you feel are 'holy'. What about them makes you feel that way. That's what we need to portray.	4/19/2020 8:39 AM
122	We need to remain as a province. We need to study Laudato Si and work with it. We need to pray to the Holy Spirit to get ideas to make our response.	4/18/2020 10:54 PM
123	We could help speak the truth that an abortion is killing an unborn child, and living uncommon when possible is the best way of living out our vows.	4/18/2020 9:34 PM
124	Deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression,	4/18/2020 8:59 PM
125	Set up ad hoc committees to help us focus and then congregational study/discussion groups.	4/18/2020 6:35 PM
126	Following the vows: Love everybody and live simply and following God's will	4/18/2020 3:49 PM
127	Rather than implement across the congregation, I think that we should allow implementation to happen organically, as noted above.	4/18/2020 3:46 PM
128	#1 and #5-Ideas for implementation would come from my answer to your first question.	4/18/2020 3:40 PM
129	Crisis of earth and Global warming: share ideas both interactively and via We are arondelet. Walk with women as we claim our voice.....: share what issues are in various places and tell success stories that may be a support to others. Perhaps find online ways to have various opportunities for shared input.	4/18/2020 2:29 PM
130	Earth and Women. Reuse/find new purpose for items not in use . Support women I. Current leadership parish/church positions and interact with hierarchy when possible.	4/18/2020 1:45 PM
131	Dear to my heart is the crisis of earth and global warming. I obviously am not a very creative person, so again, there is so much material out there that we can share with each other through Zoom and live streaming with each other. The other directive for me is anything that involves	4/18/2020 11:35 AM raising up awareness of the lack of inclusivity with the role of women in the Church today. We need to especially share with Sisters who minister in areas throughout the world in our missions where women are so downtrodden and do all we are capable in raising them up to believe in themselves, etc.

132	For the Earth and global warming - foster communication around issues such as decreasing our carbon footprint, seeing food and clean water as global crises. JPIC calls us to advocate locally and with our legislators to address these issues. In terms of inclusivity, could the Congregation in collaboration with other women's organizations, explore processes of drawing bishops and government leaders in viewing these directions. It is important to see these issues in a broader context. Too easily, such studies disintegrate into reiterating local directives, disputes.	4/18/2020 11:04 AM
133	None at the time.	4/18/2020 10:47 AM
134	Implementing these include ideas such as looking at and reducing our carbon footprint and advocating for governmental action on these [earth and environmental issues]. JPIC work in offering ways of contributing to work on these issues as well as the notion that each of us owes the future generations our action, advocacy today. In regard to the work with other women claimin the feminine voice and working toward an inclusive church and society. In terms of the church, a stronger congregational effort and direction is needed. Bishope need to be drawn into that vision of inclusivity and lack of clericalism and discrimination. I've heard it suggested that perhaps the CLG could convene a gathering [of some sort] of bishops to discern a course of action. Our focus needs to be broader, all women of the church. What needs to be avoided is relamenting a clerical direction in a given diocese or parish. Unless a vibrant direction is apparent, good women will walk away.	4/18/2020 10:33 AM
135	Respond to the Crisis of Earth: We need to study efforts needed for long-term sustainability, to 2030 and 2050. Many concrete ideas are available about re-purposing our properties for long-range planning, investing in alternative energy sources, changing our diets, and changing how we travel. The impact of COVID-19 is already requiring us to consider how to live with some of these changes such as increasing reliance on technologies and cutting down on what we though of as "essentials." We are realizing how flexible, adaptable, and generous we can be. I think this related closely to Articulating and Authentically Living Our Vows. We are being called to live more like our Neighbors who must make deep sacrifices during this time of challenge. Collaborative efforts for the good of all are essential so that all will have the resources that they need to survive and maintain their well-being and access to food, health care, safe housing, and so forth.	4/18/2020 10:14 AM
136	We can collaborate with other environmental groups and participate in collective actions i.e. divestment from fossil fuels, lower our carbon footprints, advocate all levels of government to take action to save the planet, make changes in our lifestyle share our land resources with groups doing ecological projects.	4/18/2020 9:52 AM
137	I appreciate the mailings we get from our Social Justice offices and believe they give us multiple opportunities and choices on how to be involved.	4/18/2020 9:34 AM

139	Collaborate, publicize this collaboration	4/18/2020 8:44 AM
140	Ask everyone to know/examine their carbon footprint. Encourage local house churches. Celebrate inclusive liturgies. Live the corporal works of mercy.	4/18/2020 8:06 AM
141	the first two. esp. #2--just spoke to that in previous ques. Maybe congre. could do some training courses on community organizing that would bring some of this opportunity to more of us.	4/17/2020 9:39 PM
142	No idea at this time	4/17/2020 8:49 PM

146	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming - We might look at our personal habits in regard to the use of water, electricity, recycling; be informed about how laws that were given years ago are being watered down or eliminated and take action to demand that this does not continue to happen. Use Internet and other media to keep informed and write to our representatives in Congress and other entities to protect the laws and practices that are for our	4/17/2020 6:30 PM protection. Another directive is: Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth: Everybody needs support. There are groups who already are organized to help others, especially women. Join and collaborate with them, participate in marches, use the phone, and write petitions to make known their cause. Participate in their other activities geared to helping people express their views.

147	Two directives: Crisis of Earth and our complicity in systems of oppression	4/17/2020 6:12 PM
148	Help in small ways that individuals can do to care for the earth such as recycling, composting, organics, best practices in purchasing, etc. And more education and practice around the elimination of systems of oppression, some of which we are not even aware of.	4/17/2020 6:11 PM
149	2) Deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression, Systems of education interlocks with the system of finance and jobs. Financial systems interlock with business world, with political world, etc. This pandemic of coronavirus is verifying that poor people are also victims of poor health care/systems. So the systems of finance/work positions (business) effect the health care systems, educational systems, trade systems, working conditions (other nations with child labor), poor working conditions. Because of our education and its varieties of areas, we CSJs seem best fitted to effect change through education, through meetings, through resolutions of board members, in justice issues around prisoners, legislation, institutions, etc.	4/17/2020 5:30 PM
150	The Vows...above response is one way. Another is to make a video of our recent professed Sisters within the last 5-7 years having them share on their experience of living their Vows today.	4/17/2020 5:28 PM
151	#1: perhaps select one or two concrete ways that each person/local community can use the directive in their own lives.	4/17/2020 4:52 PM
152	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming - encourage local governments to encourage everyone about the responsibility for the care of the Earth. Educate myself about systems of oppression that are prevalent in this country and throughout the world.	4/17/2020 4:15 PM
153	Our response to Covid 19 is key for me. How do we connect on many levels with each other. Social media is important. Eg. how so many of our sisters are making masks. Also prayer services that have extended to others on Facebook	4/17/2020 4:05 PM
154	For both, Collaboration with other communities who share values, who model and enact the work	4/17/2020 4:02 PM
155	Use our collective voice to accompany others. May all of us individually and collectively interact w/ compassion and acceptance to those around us.. Help women find their voice - by our example of using our voice and by discussing w/another their strong points for using their voice more, we will enable other women.	4/17/2020 3:48 PM
156	Articulate and authentically live the vows in ways that with. ess and speak to today's realities.	4/17/2020 3:43 PM
157	For the first directive, I would like Someone our knowledgeable CSJs like Toni Nash, maybe Mary Dolan and others to give more on line courses on the topic. Several of us just finished a ten week on line course taught by Toni. It was wonderful. There was contend and room for ? And answers as well	4/17/2020 3:41 PM
158	1. Continue to write letters to those responsible for making decisions; 2. Keep informed, read, about white privilege and the tensions involved	4/17/2020 3:35 PM
159	We need to be made more aware of the problems!	4/17/2020 3:14 PM
160	It's hard for me to think of ways on my own. I need to hear others speak to issues and that sparks my own ideas. Sorry about that!	4/17/2020 3:10 PM
161	Accompany others... individually, as local/ other groups COMMIT to DO, SPEAK out about an injustice. AS A CONGREGATION, speak for or against something, pool some $$$ to assist organizations reflecting our "Acts" mission and values and ... stop our complaining and speak, practice our mission ... which is that if the church... to continue the mission if Jesus. If we can't do that we need to close our doors.	4/17/2020 3:04 PM
162	#7 and #8 Using our present lived experiences of these pandemic times, look to how we have experienced Church (what Church really is) and how we can begin to live more deeply the Spirit and direction of Vatican II. By living what Vatican II was really about we could be embracing #1	4/17/2020 2:56 PM and #2 ---and also be implementing (I think) most of , if not all of, the oher directives of Chapter 2019. And the directives of the Chapter on COMMUNION! ly the

163	I hope we can let down any province barriers and engage each other as CSJs for the sake of the world. CN we let go of competing with one another and humbly work together sharing ideas and insights. Can we learn from our suffering and embrCe opportunity to really be one. I trust the more earth conscious folks to suggest how to address the earth's crisis. I welcome their insights and. Suggested actions. I don't want to be preached at but invited and challenged.	4/17/2020 2:40 PM
164	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming. Keep on educating ourselves. Become more deeply aware of our use and abuse of earth's gifts. Learn what this pandemic is trying to teach us in use of goods, etc., what it can teach us about simplifying our living.	4/17/2020 2:35 PM
165	Support women's groups and include in Connections	4/17/2020 2:35 PM
166	Care of the earth is the most important for me. St. Paul is doing an extraordinary work on implementing sustainability - how can we learn together how to implement what they are doing across the congregation?	4/17/2020 2:32 PM
167	Right now, I feel like I am living in a "bubble" because of the corona-virus challenge. I currently came to Carondelet Center to help out since the retreat center where I minister is closed. My brain is not able to vision or dream right now. My focus is on day to day responsibilities. Sorry I could not get my creative, visioning brain to get into gear.	4/17/2020 2:21 PM
168	Help nourish the earth by educating others and living by those principles. Help and live to show that every person is in need of dignity.	4/17/2020 2:19 PM
169	None right now	4/17/2020 2:19 PM

174	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming and Walk with women as we claim our voice and work toward an inclusive Church and society.	4/17/2020 1:41 PM
175	Education and continual encouragement to appreciate that these directives are a integral part of spirituality	4/17/2020 1:30 PM
176	Continued care for the earth and work to eliminate homelessness by improving the housing situation for the poor	4/17/2020 1:27 PM
177	Global warming - join forces with local and national groups advocating for ecologically sound objectives; personal responsibility for living in a sustainable fashion; community investments in ecologically responsible companies.	4/17/2020 12:08 PM
178	I choose the same two directives as above. I believe that education is the main tool, but it needs to be practical, not theoretical.I need to be faced with examples of my own complicity (OUCH!) and my own excuses for not changing. Can we lovingly challenge ourselves and one another? We also need to realistically face our limitations so we don't set up guilt trips, but still face the MORE we could do.	4/17/2020 11:45 AM
179	I will comment just on Earth. Maybe it is the approach of Earth Day, or maybe the glory of spring, but I think we must do more to raise awareness and implement ways of protecting the earth and making resources available to all.	4/17/2020 11:13 AM
180	I think a few common focuses to reflect, share, an inplement a focus towards a united goal.	4/17/2020 11:11 AM
181	Regional actions based on the culture of each place . Consensus among regional groups on actions will require in-depth conversation.	4/17/2020 1:12 AM
182	1) respond to the crisis of Earth 2) use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth	4/16/2020 6:55 PM
183	Give resources: Books, U-Tube Videos, Interview, Articles, Reflection Guies, study groups. 2) Virtural or In Place Gatherings. 3) Sharing of Heart and sharing of ideas for personal growth	4/16/2020 6:10 PM and witness.

184	Sharing success stories with members of other provinces. And sharing what we learn. We're never too old not to learn new things.	4/16/2020 4:05 PM
185	I wish I knew. This is a daunting question for me.	4/16/2020 2:20 PM
186	1. Have the JPIC continue to remind us about ways and means to save the earth. 3. Have congregation and province leaders keep reminding us about living out our vows that witness what they should.	4/16/2020 12:39 PM
187	Invite P/VP to suggest ways that we can join together in ACTION to combat climate change/global warming. For example, when St. Paul decided to counteract the carbon footprint of those who attended Chapter by planting trees on our property, other P/VP could be invited to do the same. By inviting others to join in an action, there is a compounded effect. In "collective voice" sharing with each other across P/VP Action taken to show how this pandemic is equalizing and to highlight how the poor and the disenfranchised are disproportionately negatively affected. Demonstrate support for agencies that recognize this and take action to alleviate the situation.	4/16/2020 12:35 PM
188	1. Respond to the crisis of earth and global warming. Each of us could become more aware of how we can personally become involved in ways to improve in what we are now doing regarding this problem. 2. Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth. Write letters supporting women who speak the truth that we agree with.	4/16/2020 12:31 PM
189	We could read books together, major speakers webinars, sponsor a petition on Move On,	4/16/2020 11:59 AM
190	Earth/global warming. Have Amy Hereford give us some resources including talking to us via video. Awareness of complicity in systems of oppression. Ask Nancy Corchoran to provide resources including her own experience with LGBTQI community. Also, resources from theologian M. Shawn Copeland.	4/16/2020 11:52 AM
191	Respond to crisis of Earth/global warming. Use congregational communications to share articles relevant, challenging and engaging about this issue. Offer opportunities for ZOOM sessions to share wisdom about this issue across the Congregation. Second issue, articulate and ... live our vows. I'm not sure how to promote this.	4/16/2020 11:41 AM
192	Respond to the crisis... Continue to educate by means of memos, small group discussions, weekly reminders or suggestions. Articulate and authentically live our vows...Reflections questions to challenge us. Update on living the vows in today.	4/16/2020 11:39 AM
193	Earth & Global warming..to continue the small ways that some are doing and for us, especially the younger members, to find new ways to go forward. Sensitize priest.. in seminary training, etc. Be respectful but determined to share more fully in liturgies.	4/16/2020 11:24 AM
194	1. Deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression. One specific way in which we can implement this directive is by consciously and concretely addressing the reality of racism in myself, community, world, etc. Membership in committees that specific address racism through workshops, discussion groups based on books and articles that address racism. 2. Use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth. One specific way is being available to companion other women in different ways, such as in "spiritual direction" and its many expressions.	4/16/2020 11:23 AM
195	Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming andArticulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities.	4/16/2020 11:18 AM
196	Consistent united prayer. Perhaps set a time each day when all of us stop for 5 minutes and pray the same prayer.	4/16/2020 11:02 AM
197	1- Articulate and authentically live our vows... need to define what our vows mean today as Carondelets! Then agree to live out of our common understanding of the vows so we can witness and speak out of with one collective voice when the times are RIGHT. 2 Respond to ... Earth and global warming - get involved with groups that are already involved in these issues. For our senior sisters to get involved in prayer practices of kinds that interest them and activities/projects. Make us all of us aware that together we can save the Earth	4/16/2020 10:52 AM sometimes we need an outside (non csj) view • Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming, Use this time of staying in place to focus more time and energy in reflecting with Laudato Si and the numerous other resources there are out there – keep track of our reflections and maybe wait until this is over to ask us to share them in some creative way.

199	(1) "Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities." I would love to see the formation of a congregational commission (or whatever you name it) to work together on designing an annual CSJ retreat that can be offered in multiple sites across the congregation; perhaps think of other shorter experiences that can be replicated without too much trouble, so the experience is available to many in our community and can be a shared basis of reflection. And (2) the first directive, which calls us to act on behalf of Earth and against climate change: Can we work toward establishing common policies and procedures in all our center houses? I know this has been talked about and the JPIC teams have tried, but I hope we can put some more "push" behind, or in, our response to this call to action. Might there be some kind of "convening" of leaders in these center houses with the JPIC team, and the group be asked to come with a common set of actions?	4/15/2020 10:30 PM
200	I choose the first two directives: Respond to the crisis of Earth and global warming and 2) deepen awareness of complicity... because if the two are done well, it they could include the rest of the directives.	4/15/2020 5:14 PM
201	Any way we can help the environment by recycling and any other opportunities.	4/15/2020 2:05 PM
202	As I indicated earlier, the first two directives are most important from my perspective. Education and action are key ingredients. I suggest that you continue to provide ways for sisters and associates to share what specific actions they have taken to address global warming. We are now composting. There is a warehouse in St. Louis that welcomes a large number of items for recycling. Teachers and other groups are welcome to come to the warehouse and select what they can use. Less use of the car and more car-pooling could assist in saving our carbon footprint. Regarding racism, continue to flood us with articles and books. I found "White Fragility" by Robin Di Angelo very challenging. Sharing in local community and with book groups gets the message out. Bringing speakers in or taking advantage of speakers brought to University campuses and elsewhere is a wonderful way to begin to address this issue. Responding to legislators when significant Bills are brought about to address systemic racism is another small step. We need to constantly be reminded and encouraged to take action. Linking hands with neighbors across the globe must continue.	4/15/2020 1:57 PM
203	Continue exploring ways we can diminish global warming and participate with government groups and other organizations. Seek opportunities to walk with women, work with organizations that are doing that. I think in particular of within the church.	4/15/2020 1:52 PM
204	Create cross unit groups to create materials, processes etc for the whole congregation like the environmental group from the previous chapter but then find ways to keep track of responses and growth and involvement around the issues.	4/15/2020 1:25 PM
205	1) Global Warming 2) interlocking system's of oppressions	4/15/2020 11:56 AM

211	Deepening our awareness of complicity etc. And Walking with women	4/14/2020 4:51 PM
212	"Respond to the crisis of earth and global warming." Enumerate possible responses, such as what products to buy and not buy. Reiterate the gravity of the situation with concrete information, even tho it may be a repetition of known data. 2) "use our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth." Continue to provide congregationally information on the truths found in other religions and philisophies, such as Islam, and work to dispel the idea that people who adhere to other faiths are evil or untrustworthy.	4/14/2020 4:41 PM

215	Having done workshops on systemic oppression for years (with Mari Ann Graham), I would love to be able to provide those opportunities to provinces other than St. Paul. Or serve as resource. As could several members of our working Confronting Whiteness and Racism Working Group. Regarding the last Act listed, we need to continue to stand in solidarity and send explicit messages of support for the truths that need to be spoken as well as speak out against those actions that are harmful and hurtful to us and dear neighbors.	4/14/2020 3:34 PM
216	We can use our collective voice as we have been to assure justice is not overlooked during the pandemic. And keep raising up the Global Climate Change as reason to care for Earth in healthy and sustainable ways.	4/14/2020 3:30 PM
217	Earth--be personally responsible. Women's voices--speak up, advocate, name injustice, join in.	4/14/2020 2:29 PM
218	My choices are the first (earth/climate change) and second (oppressive structures). The fourth (women/church) I view as contained in the second (oppressive structures) and can be worked on in a prophetic way as occasions present themselves. The last one I view as a process statement, one that apply to how we carry out these directives (collective power) . Likewise, this collective action might give witness to living out our vows.	4/14/2020 11:11 AM

Participate in how evolution is transforming our doctrines and understanding of God from static to dynamic.. 2. Walk with women as we claim our voices and work toward an inclusive church and society, Who is in a better place to take on the Church than us? Covid-19 is putting liturgy in the family, on Zoom, or on TV, leaving empty churches. 221	In responding to the first 2 directives, recognizing the situations, learning about and understanding them, then deciding what each of us as individuals and also what we can do as a group in our particular locale. It is important to recognize that we are very different due to geography, personality, ethnicity, age, history, and many other variables. We need to take action as an individual person and also as part of our larger local group.	4/13/2020 3:26 PM
222	walk with women, go deeper. We can all pray!	4/13/2020 2:42 PM

live more on the edge with the marginalized and there on the margins we can dare to be PROPHETIC.

229	Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities. Society badly needs vowed religious to be role models for inclusion; far too much violence and disrespect is prevalent in society, and positive role models are needed. 2. Walk with women as we claim our voice and work toward an inclusive church and society. As society becomes more and more aware of the need for women to take leadership, we need to promote this concept as a means to inclusion. Even Pope Francis has made statements of the need for women in leadership.	4/10/2020 1:23 PM
230	Through prayer and dialogue we stay centered and focused on what and how we are to live.	4/10/2020 1:17 PM
231	With respect to care for the earth, I think we can do simple things like fill the dishwasher before running it. Buy goods in biodegradable containers. Grow vegetables in the garden. Use public transportation more. In using our collective voice, I think we need to be more proactive on two issues: voter suppression and the inhumane treatment of immigrants.	4/10/2020 1:00 PM
232	Respond to the crisis of the earth and global warming AND Articulate and authentically live our vows in ways that witness and speak to today's realities	4/10/2020 10:38 AM
233	I would love to see a unified plan for implementation. Some need to then be unfolded locally and some can be done Congregationally. Even coming to a consensus on which ones are congregational would be helpful	4/10/2020 10:21 AM
234	Walk with women as we claim our voice and work toward an inclusive church and society.: Could the CLT ask a sister who is active in some extraordinary leadership role to speak to a group of sisters and/or associates in another group to speak their truth? Deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression: Again, could the CLT, in discovering someone or someones who have worked on (e.g.) human rights, to help many others of us discover (1.) How we are complicit; (2) How we can work toward dismantling such interlocking systems of oppression. (e.g.) Studies going on now on white privilege; Sister Helen Prejean's work on the death penalty.)	4/9/2020 3:19 PM
235	The first two. Speak with on. Voice as a Congregation. Look at ways we invest that are pro earth. Get local groups to work at State levels to get policy changes that are meaningful. Support laws that expand areas that have been repressive in the past ..ex bail refo4m	4/9/2020 1:58 PM
236	Modeling inclusiveness in our actions, communications and outreach to persons of diverse backgrounds and ethnicities; activities to promote SYSTEMIC change in our major institutions - religious, education, penal, health, government, and military to name a few. Also, providing for cross-unit accountability. This involves more than direct service but developing strategies to "help people help themselves". The phrase is sometimes used, "To be voice for the voiceless". There are specific strategies to train and educate groups to use their own voices; thereby, to work toward interdependence rather than dependence. We are still feeling strongly many of the "isms" that still oppress. Some conditions are somewhat better; however, systemic injustices still exist, in my opinion. More over, what will be our legacy as we become fewer and fewer?	4/9/2020 11:00 AM
237	#1 global warming... the pandemic is having a positive impact on global warming... this could be a wake-up call of ALL world leaders... let us get behind what lack of pollution is showing the world. #5 speaking their truth... signing petitions, working at the border, being incisive in everyday life.	4/9/2020 10:57 AM
238	Continue to be involved in the many areas, missions that the CSJs have founded and continue to form. Here in St. Louis province Houseing initiatives, help for our city seniors, and inclusion.	4/9/2020 9:05 AM
239	I feel strongly about the second one. I think anything we can provide that will help us talk with one another about those issues for better understanding and improved action would be helpful.As I read and reflect on them myself, I realize how much I don't know . For the more able bodied women, some actual contact with other cultures could be helpful especially with some prior preparation.	4/8/2020 1:18 PM
240	Walk with women	4/8/2020 10:57 AM
241	I need to think about this - I would like to see efforts to get us out of our protective/sheltered view of contemporary life. Perhaps educational programs conducted by people who have life experiences that are current, difficult, etc. I don't think that this is a time for gentle, "nice", polite, tame(?), cheery-inspirational talks. Suffering and loneliness are real as you all know and isn't it	4/8/2020 7:45 AM

our commitment to help and support our dear neighbor. Doing this "without distinction" will take us into the world I've been talking about. It's uncomfortable work but it's not dangerous. (Those who have the gift of working in dangerous situations are likely to be already doing it)

242	Dismantling oppressions: have someone find or write up very suscint ways we can do this; have sisters tell of how they are doing it; Second earth and global warming ask sisters for ideas of how we as a congregation can do this, collective efforts someplace; have sisters and associates share simple ways they are doing it	4/8/2020 7:20 AM
243	Respond to the crisis of Mother Earth.... I think this is para mount in showing love toward our neighbor and our Mother . We are an urban community which does restrict our awareness of the devastating effects of climate change in rural areas . I would like to see us occupy areas out in the country where we could learn to cultivate the earth and grow sustainable food using simple tools and where we would reverence and learn from the earth. I think we need to restore dignity toward the native Americans and lives community with creation. It is about being one with the planet andNOT subjecting it to the violence of our abusive practices Secondly, I would like to emphasize helping women achieve equality both within the church and in community. The sisters have witnessed to this in powerful way and we need to stand on their shoulders not in an aggressive way, but in calm sense of responsibility and wisdom. We can do this! We must do this!	4/7/2020 11:11 PM

246	#3, encourage participation in all activities where Sisters and Associates feel called to minister; #4 continue to model hospitality and the charisms to the marginalized	4/7/2020 7:01 PM
247	Use our collective voice to support others speaking the truth about oppression and the crisis of earth. Authentically live our lives in ways that walk the talk.	4/7/2020 4:24 PM
248	global warming: be critical in car and gas use; support the house churches run by women	4/7/2020 4:20 PM
249	Respond to global warming and climate change - We each can be more mindful of reducing our own footprint. Also vote for politicians and policies in support of addressing these issues. Dismantling interlocking systems of oppression - Work for diversity in all aspects of our lives, learn to recognize what the systems that perpetuate oppression look like, and make people accountable who perpetuate these systems. . . political leaders, employers, businesses we support, religious organizations.	4/7/2020 4:09 PM
250	Because we are already in the process of breaking opening The Crisis of the Earth and Global warming, it would be enlightening and enriching to have a discussion on this as perhaps at one of the types of gatherings described above. Secondly the same wth the second on Deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression,Deepen awareness of our complicity and work toward dismantling interlocking systems of oppression. This could also be on another directive that another unit is breaking open and we could share across the units in a more small grouping with one another.	4/7/2020 3:34 PM

252	Crisis of Earth: the Congregational JPIC team is designing a series of programs for our use; Authentically live our vows: I believe ongoing education on the vows would be extremelly helpful for those who have professed their vows decades ago. Perhaps some of the recorded sessions from the Federation Novitiate/Novitiate resouceres could be viewed, with small group discussion in our home communities.	4/7/2020 2:20 PM warming will be similar: educate ourselves, identify actions that will engender change, mobilize (letters, calls, lobby, provide legal assistance, etc.), and collect/analyze data to determine efficacy and provide direction. In either cases, it is necessary to reach out to others impacted by either systemic inequities or global warming or both, and partner with them.

257	Curate information about what is being done with contact info. This could be a shared database across the congregation.	4/7/2020 1:24 PM
258	What exactly are our "dreams for the congregation"? And what IS the congregation? As we age and diminish, our "congregation" changes with our demographics. At this point in history, each of us IS the "congregation" where-ever and in what-ever ministry we serve – out in the field, or in retirement. I don't believe in "dreams"; at this point in time, but I do believe that there are, and should be, aspirations and actions: to be the best that we can be with the gifts and resources that we have. In whatever we do – strive to be God's hands and heart in the world that is ours right NOW.	4/7/2020 1:13 PM

265	1. Dismantling of interlocking systems of oppression- how does the coronavirus and the disparity of healthcare access and treatment reflect these disparities? What would a system that dramatically lessens this look like? How might are we being called to act with a greater sense of justice and as greater witnesses to God's call to us. This could lead to a series of workshops and conscience building exercises that lead to action. 2. How do these efforts of one, lead me and others to acting with a greater sense of justice, a greater urgency to see justice done, and concrete acts that align with this commitment?	4/7/2020 11:26 AM

Also, walking with women to claim their voice: continue to work with out high schools and colleges to address this issue with our students. Q3 One of the chapter directives states that “the Congregational Leadership Team will continue to provide opportunities for intra-congregational dialogue and sharing.” Describe what kinds of intra-congregational opportunities would work best for you? Don’t be limited by the kinds of gatherings we have already experienced.

#	RESPONSES	DATE
1	Opportunities that would work best for me are sending a small group of sisters to each province to discuss intra-congregational dialogue and sharing.	5/6/2020 2:30 PM
2	I think the present virus is reminding us that we are all equal, regardless of our culture, religion, occupation, financial situation etc. The disease treats all equally and so must we. We are already working on it by meetings on racism, books on racism. I think we need to get people in Congress to make laws that treat ALL equally. The present disparity is appalling and needs to be corrected. There are blatant examples during WWII when returning from war, whites got all kind of help and African Americans were left to fend for themselves.	4/29/2020 10:32 AM
3	I would love to be able to continue helping with the efforts directed at connecting our local Associates.	4/27/2020 4:15 PM
4	The CLT will model how unity is possible amidst diversity. How values need to be examined to clarify how they influence our behavior. Be open to restructuring the CLT so that there is one representative from each Province/Vice Province assigned to deal with the CLT agenda. Share "Best Practices". Facilitate amalgamation and independence of Congregation/Province future planning.	4/27/2020 3:32 PM
5	I have no new ideas. Whatever you have been doing works for me. Communication of what others are doing or thinking, ritual ideas, meetings, visiting.	4/27/2020 3:19 PM
6	The internet gives a variety of communication possibilities.	4/27/2020 3:09 PM
7	For me it would not involve traveling. Rather it will be up to me to try to be present at events when sisters are visiting here from other provinces.	4/27/2020 11:45 AM
8	Opportunities: explore interdependence, review CSJ Constitutions in the light of these directives, study guides or questions could be provided to Clusters for this. Suggestions of recent books, articles could be offered, with the goal of reminding us of these directives. Use of LCWR Occasional Papers offers a great world view of spiritual developments and future directions.	4/27/2020 11:14 AM
9	Intentional mix of Sisters, ACOF, Partners in mission/ministry, St. Joseph Workers etc so people can hear from one another how they are living out the charism. That we are a CSJ ecosystem- interconnected with different expressions and niches. Use technology to expand reach and limit resource use.	4/27/2020 9:58 AM
10	Gatherings online or physical that focus on the Chapter Directions. Consider inviting folks to self-organize like the voluntary, grassroots Carondelet Earth Committee that meets regularly to think about and develop actions like the recent carbon reduction pledge.	4/24/2020 10:59 AM
11	The Zoom has been great to continue meetings of groups. I enjoyed the Congregational Zoom we had recently. It was good to have participation from all of the Provinces. It was great to have a sister from Japan to join us. I get lots of emails from Government, World Organizations and Companies that I appreciate receiving. The Congregation must have special emails that we may not know about that we could correspond our opinions.	4/24/2020 10:16 AM
12	I am interested in any kind of intra congregational opportunities which will free us from a focus on structure and open us more to a vision. These past months have surely proven that we are in a transformative time to new and bigger things. Let's not get bogged down with dialogue about us, our structure,, etc. How do we broaden our vision??	4/24/2020 10:10 AM
13	I would like sharing groups on homelessness, using technology, our system change-use of facilities, how e live our vows and do we want to attract vocations or ways of increasing vocations.	4/24/2020 10:07 AM
14	I enjoy our monthly issue of Together. More information from other provinces could be featured.	4/24/2020 10:05 AM
15	Technology seems to make our interaction feasible. Perhaps there could be sessions that are more frequent.	4/24/2020 10:03 AM
16	I have prized in-person opportunities to get to know each other, yet now I think more in terms of Zoom conversations becoming a more frequent way of gathering and sharing- a gathering of those particularly interested in promoting theological education and spiritual formation to help us be church, people of God where we are, helping us to advance our own self-determination as women in a so-slow-to-change-institutional-church... what are we learning about racism in	4/24/2020 10:00 AM

our selves and our communities and ministries that can help us to be less self-centered and more appreciative of real diversities within and among and beyond us?

17	As an individual, age 94, still ministering our senior sisters as cosmetologist and striving to be a disciple of Jesus from His words, commands, etc.	4/24/2020 9:57 AM
18	1. Have a "pen pal" from another unit of the congregation...write cards, emails...connect and share through technology 2. Group meetings with a mixture of csj from across the congregation.	4/24/2020 9:52 AM
19	I have taken part in one effort to get to know each other across provinces...the efforts expended were important for the experience. I look back and discover I met some lovely women, we had fruitful conversations, were delighted with the experience, but no follow-up. Have attended Federation meetings, I also recall the wonderful sessions on table had)8 of us representing 8 different CSJ Congregations). It was enlightening to all of us how much we connected-even hoped to stay connected...a picture was taken and we are yet to see it-no follow up. I have a memory of how we are coming from the same spirituality and commitment to mission...but, again, I see small groups evolving through sharing of the heart, discovering common interests and gifts...and moving in that arena...then communicating with the rest of us to inspire and connect with those with common hopes and service.	4/24/2020 9:50 AM

22	I hope the monies for such meetings go to the younger sisters. I have loved meeting my sisters throughout the congregation. At this time, I am concerned about the use of monies for flight knowing how awful the cost is to earth. I am engaged with many groups on line. I find this so unsatisfactory...I miss face to face and find that my energy feels wasted at the end of what often turns into superficial contacts. It just doesn't do it for me. I would rather waste time in person with folks around me.	4/23/2020 2:24 PM
23	Given the social/physical isolation required to beat COVID-19, use of social media would work best for me for dialogue and sharing. Identify and support intra-congregational gatherings that are already meeting via technology and ask them to share how it is working for them and their ministries. Identify existing "opportunities for intra-congregational dialog and sharing" e.g.: State of the Heart groups, at the levels of CSSJ Federation, Sisters of Earth, other congregations	4/23/2020 11:17 AM
24	I think the best way you help each other by the way prayer for all of us.	4/23/2020 11:15 AM
25	Common reading or experience with personal reflection related to the directives, followed by sharing on local level, followed by zoom sharing across congregation. Need a process with guided, specific questions for both the local and congregation level. End point: how are we called to act, speak, think differently? Can we offer suggestions with processes that lead us to "we will or will not do, etc"? Each step of the way ask how this directive is related to or effects each of the other directives. Let's build and see as a whole and not piece-meal.	4/23/2020 10:57 AM
26	I think any gathering is a positive. Wether this is in the form of meeting and conversation in person or digitally, through written form and through sharing materials.	4/23/2020 10:11 AM
27	1. make use of zoom. 2.forwarding informational videos 3. sending emails 4. Limiting gatherings that involve traveling (too expensive) 4. Rotate where you have meetings that will involve travel. The Western is far away from all of you.	4/22/2020 6:43 PM
28	It is more helpful for me to gather in for these dialogues, which of course is not possible at this time. There is something realtional that happens when we are physically together for a day or a weekend that a Zoom meeting does not provide.	4/22/2020 2:43 PM
29	Using technology like zoom is a good one; visit by CLT to various areas within the provincial regions...not beats personal contact and one-to-one face-to -face conversations.	4/22/2020 12:28 PM
30	New possibilities keep arising. I am partial to zoom. Even after this virus passes, I think we will do more communicating virtually.	4/22/2020 12:05 PM

34	Work as closely as possible with the CLG, assuming that each Province CLT is willing as far as time permits given what is going on in the vice/province(s). At the drop in Open House I attended, it was mentioned that the CLT was looking at a publication by LCWR on the meaning of the vows and that the Team was going to be looking at that document to generate questions. Instead of starting with CLT: 1. Describe the publication and offer the option to the several congregational book clubs to do what the CLT was going to do, as I understood it: Interested Book Clubs review the document and generate questions. 2. Gather the questions, synthesize, and then bring back to the book clubs for prioritizing 3. Review by the CLT and then send out to the Congregation for inter-congregational discussion on ZOOM and the like for those interested. Find out and support inter-congregational gatherings that are already happening via technology. See if they are willing/able to share what they are doing and how it is working and what they are seeing as benefits. Support those groups gathering in person, should it be of interest. Rather than focus on "providing opportunities," look at places where there are opportunities: federation, Sisters of the Earth; share information on workshops that three or four sisters might be interested in attending together (e.g., in L.A. the Witnessing Whiteness annual workshop. Ordinarily in June or July, but this year might be different). Compile a short list. On occasion support individual(s) request for connections (e.g., travel for me to St. Louis (to see Paulette) and Springfield (to see Katie), and the like. That is-- if we, once again, may find that we can blithely fly (or soar) hither and yon as in the long-ago days before the coronavirus.	4/21/2020 11:09 PM
35	I do like the zoom calls but often find it difficult to participate while I am still working. I do think that there are other forms of technology that could bring us together - but I don't know enough about them	4/21/2020 10:20 PM
36	Maybe have some of the meetings in New York State for those who can't afford or can travel far.	4/21/2020 9:03 PM
37	I have always valued inter-unit travel/presence, but that option seems to be less and less realistic given our demographics and the realities of today in light of coved-19. I have found Zoom to be helpful. Beyond that, my imagination is limited, and I would value to insights/inspiration of others more visionary than I.	4/21/2020 8:48 PM
38	Directories are available -- though pictures are helpful. We are Carondelet provides good information and connection possibilities. Disappointed we had to cancel this year's ACOF convocation. Face to face is best!	4/21/2020 7:05 PM

43	I was fortunate to be able to go from San Francisco to the gathering in Albany, and also fortunate to have had many opportunities to experience different parts of the Congregation. I did not tke advantage of the zoo meetings, and I regret that. I would participate in other opportunities.	4/21/2020 4:35 PM
44	In past years, the St. Louis congregations had an all-day meeting at the May Center at dePaul Hospital. Those were very beneficial. I don't know of other kinds of gatherings.	4/21/2020 4:16 PM
45	For a starter, some open Zoom conversations with one of the directives identified as a topic. Consoder setting a limit on the number of participants (swy 25) and the number from each unit. As I typed this, I wondered how it would be to have conversations with folks in similar age ranges.	4/21/2020 3:55 PM
46	Face-to-face is always my preference. The interactive zoom calls do have some benefits. Working with a small group on a topic or project would allow "regular" meeting and getting to know at least a small group of people.	4/21/2020 3:04 PM
47	I have prized in-person opportunities to get to know each other, yet now I think more in terms of Zoom conversations becoming a more frequent way of gathering and sharing- a gathering of those particularly interested in promoting theological education and spiritual formation to help us be church, people of God where we are, helping us to advance our own self-determination as women in a so-slow-to-change-institutional-church... what are we learning about racism in	4/21/2020 3:01 PM

our selves and our communities and ministries that can help us to be less self-centered and more appreciative of real diversities within and among and beyond us?

48	Establish vibrant network using Zoom & streaming. Set up Zoom study groups across the congregation. Engage ACOF members and make them mission active. Preserve subsidiarity.	4/21/2020 2:52 PM
49	As we age in place travel is limiting to some, however if we do something where a few people come from each province and host a few options there could be a good mix and take the formal and informal time together. Screen time does not provide the amount of time needed.	4/21/2020 2:15 PM
50	Planned gathering with bishops? Session at CCWR with the men? I do not need to go to any more conversations with sisters who believe as I do that the situation is dreadful. We already know that. How can we (or you) talk with the right people?	4/21/2020 1:19 PM
51	Small group discussions work best for me. Zoom could be used, but there are occasions that it has been hacked, so one needs to be careful what one displays on it. Readings are helpful followed by small group discussions.	4/21/2020 1:07 PM
52	Considering the limitations of COVID-19, Zoom meetings for Clusters and common topics across the Congregation would help. I'm already on the Justice group of LCWR and get tons of opportunities to lobby for DACA justice, Network justice issues, Earth justice; Joining WhatsApp – "Sisters Stop COVID-19" has brought me into a worldwide web of Sisters from Sri-Lanka to Tijuana who are all trying to educate poor people in this time of Pandemic fear.	4/21/2020 1:04 PM
53	Make known what is happening in various parts of our Country so we can connect with other Congregations/groups. Using social media is the best way for us to interact and dialogue.	4/21/2020 12:25 PM

55	One of the gatherings which I found helpful with the just completed Congregational Leadership Team was their inviting just one or two from a province/vice-province meeting in another province for just two days around an issue or several issues. Only one or two of the leadership team would need to be present. the purpose would be that all present would find out what is going on around specific issues in each of the units of the congregation. Another possibility if meeting of an equal number of younger religious and older religious with one or two Congregational Leaders present, speaking on one of the significant issues. This could be developed as an outgrowth of a panel and could be seen electronically throughout the congregation.	4/21/2020 10:45 AM
56	I appreciate being with sisters and associates from across the provinces. I would like to take one of the directives and have gatherings set up that we can sign up for and attend in person	4/21/2020 7:16 AM
57	We could use zoom for intracongregational, but that has been hacked already. So we need to be careful in using it.	4/21/2020 6:29 AM
58	With all that is happening I think zoom calls would be good now and meeting the group of 20 or so and after checking in divide up into groups of 5 for discussion. Maybe that mixed group of 20 could one day meet in person..	4/20/2020 8:58 PM
59	I am most familiar with ZOOM.	4/20/2020 8:37 PM
60	I think that Ustreaming of talks, etc. is a good way. Many of us are not tech savvy so I am not sure how to get involved in other means of coming together. Good articles are important to get us thinking and hopefully when the pandemic is over to also be able to discuss issues, etc. Setting up committees that can work from afar organize strategies for working in our own areas because of pandemic distancing. But I think sharing the results of this survey is a vital need ...not just some said this, but 123 out of 600 said this kind of report. I also feel that many people who are locked down may not be filling out the survey.	4/20/2020 8:35 PM
61	Face to face is always the most satisfying for me but I realize that is not always realistic. During these days I think we are getting better with Zoom and other forms of connection. I am sure there are other forms that I am not familiar with.	4/20/2020 7:49 PM
62	Opportunities: explore interdependence, review CSJ Constitution in the light of these directives, provide study guides or questions to Clusters for this purpose. Suggestions of recent books, articles could be offered, with the goal of reminding us of these directives. Use of LCWR Occasional Papers offers a great world view of spiritual developments and future directions.	4/20/2020 6:22 PM

63	I have not been a fan on "Zoom" meetings, but I have had to have a few these days. I guess it got the job done but it wasn't a way to meet that I would choose. Then a former ministry colleague of mine at the parish I now volunteer at had a "party" with Zoom. I loved it. We laughed and interacted, having a great time and I felt restored by it. So I won't give up on that way of trying to connect over distances!	4/20/2020 6:12 PM
64	At my age, I'm not traveling to other areas, but I would welcome visitors to our province. This could happen in a number of ways. We would always welcome visitors to speak on their personal experience, ministry, or points of view. I'd prefer having one or more sisters come to stay a few days, live with us, making it possible to talk and share in two's, or in small groups. Given our current practice of social distancing, we could at least do this in small groups, a[[rp[riodate] spaced out. We would pprofit with getting acquainted with individuals from other areas and kind of CSJ life experience. I haven't experienced zoom meetings very often, but I know this is also a good possibility. I don't think we CSJs would find it hard to find something to talk about once we get started! Another possibility is to form small groups (committees?) on specific topics with a taswk and a completion time. this could also be done via zoom.	4/20/2020 5:49 PM
65	I am most comfortable with the printed word. My experience with Zoom and video presentations is that they are awkward. In video presentations it is obvious that the presenters are not comfortable and the whole presentation is stilted. The message does not always come across. It will be important that newer members spend some time (2-3 yrs?) in various parts of the congregation so they develop a deep sense of being part of the congregation.	4/20/2020 4:36 PM
66	Sharing via communication technology, interactive video, etc., is best for me because I can't travel to meetings but would like the opportunity to participate.	4/20/2020 4:30 PM
67	Zoom, Skype, video conferencing	4/20/2020 4:16 PM
68	Zoom gatherings have become much more common and helpful--evn if not perfect! Use varieties of socal media. Hold selct and creative gatherings of in-person events. Open invitations cross congregationally to participate in more events. Continuing emphasis on print communications that go congregationally. SOMething besides a congregation chapter that will physically bring groups together--need to get to know each other in person on occasion, especially as numbers grow smaller.	4/20/2020 3:47 PM

71	Small face-to-face gatherings (no more than 20 fairly equally representing all units (P/VP); zoom (or similar technology) events; simple small telephone gatherings; retreat designed for all unit representation with talking at evening meal and optional evening discussion group(s); joint jubilee celebrations; e.g., two provinces together.	4/20/2020 3:23 PM

73	Zoom calls work best for me	4/20/2020 2:59 PM
74	The best opportunities for me would be any type of inter- or intra-congregational meetings since travel or personal attendance at meetings is extremely difficult for me.	4/20/2020 2:21 PM
75	I believe that continuing to use technology is good and helps lessen our carbon footprint. Maybe providing a place to livestream conversations in different Units might be good. Also, I know I have a Sharing of the Heart group across the congregation and am wondering how this could be facilititated.	4/20/2020 12:56 PM
76	I have been blessed by oppotunities to facilitate assemblies in all three of the other provinces, currently in LA and Albany. There is nothing like face to face interaction with large and small groups to engender understanding and appreciation for the community, culture and ministries of the various parts of the Congregation. Zoom and Google Hangouts work well for me if there are meaningful questions and appropriate protocol for the online gatherings. It would be great if provinces could live-stream their assemblies and special educational oppotunities to the other provinces.	4/20/2020 12:55 PM

79	I would appreciate the opportunity for some intra-congregational sharing around the question, What is the messenger, called corona virus, telling us? We know that in every crisis or destabilization there is an opportunity. So, what are the opportunities related to some of our calls from chapter?	4/20/2020 12:03 PM
80	Teleconference to reduce carbon footprint. Recognize that we are a community of elders...travel and technology may be difficult for many. How to facilitate participation in light of this reality?	4/20/2020 11:59 AM
81	Again with our provinces experiencing fewer numbers and declining age and health, it is becoming necessary to reach across provinces to work together. I would like to see inter-community retreats/conferences to share ideas and be physically present to one another. More zoom conferences to discuss possibilities.	4/20/2020 11:56 AM
82	At this point, it is so hard to focus on anything other than the coronavirus response.	4/20/2020 11:51 AM
83	1. Although we are living on Zoom these days, it is a wonderful and cost-effective way to connect. 2. I would welcome the small gatherings we had experienced in other Provinces (such as our retreats) knowing that I far prefer in person conversations.	4/20/2020 11:51 AM
84	Zoom calls work with 10 people or less. I liked the Gatherings that occurred in the summer and fall of 2018 Facilitation is key.	4/20/2020 11:48 AM
85	Meetings are not in the offering now. Zoom is a way to meet and stay connected.	4/20/2020 11:45 AM
86	Choose just one action that, across the congregation, we can work on and speak as one unified congregation. That can be for any topic but earth might be the single issue that has our full body of support. It certainly had that at Chapter. Might we, as a congregation, ever have the courage to allow the CLT to speak on our behalf in support of some current newsworthy person/issue relating to race or a person speaking his/her truth as a public way of standing with someone in a minority position?	4/20/2020 11:42 AM
87	Share best practices	4/20/2020 11:37 AM
88	Right now we are challenged by virus...I would like to volunteer with others across the congregation...much like the call for home missions.	4/20/2020 11:37 AM
89	With current technology, zoom opportunities may be our best option given our ages and distances. Setting up discussions with the same group for several times would help us to get to know folks better. After that give an opportunity to change groups involving other persons.	4/20/2020 11:34 AM
90	Personally, I need to recognize my own resistance to the ways of using technology in this area. I know a lot is being done to help us dialogue across the boundaries of provinces/vice provinces. I'm sure others have many suggestions in this area.	4/20/2020 11:31 AM
91	The statement mentions what's best for you: I'm not looking at what's best for me rather what might and could be best for all of us. A Congregational Renewal on the Vows An invitation from the Congregational Leadership Team: to the Province and Vice Province Leadership Teams inviting Sisters by way of a video options for future community living In established Healthcare Facilities throughout the Congregation Carondelet Village in St. Paul Nazareth in St. Louis Quaker Village The video would include but not limited to: ..a tour of the entire complex ..interviews with individuals living there ...some recent residence ...some from the beginning ..someone from marketing giving brief details on: ... criteria for application ... what monthly fees include ... optional services If a sister is interested in pursuing these Healthcare Facilities then she begins the dialogue with her Leadership contact person. Could this be one huge leap toward facing the reality that by the year 2023 (3years away) the projection of total members of the Congregation will be 706 according to the 2015 version with Mercer Mortality Tables for Woman Religious. "Over the years, we have noted that this program has significant predictive value." (May 2018) My reaction is facing a startling reality with a wake up call that with this global epidemic changing day by day realizing life is and never will be the same that somehow we have to pull in our resources and join with other Provinces sharing their available resources. "One small step for womankind. One huge step for Sisterhood." Once again this relates to living our vows and witnessing to changing realities.	4/20/2020 10:58 AM

Chapter Directives that surface from the Monkey Survey. ONE of the four facilitators would be from the Congregational Leadership Team. Consider SPRING of 2021 (depending on where the country is regarding Covid 19 Pandemic). Limit total participants between 20-25 Potential geographic areas: Los Angeles and Saint Louis I'd like to begin by thanking Margaret Wheately" Be brave enough to start a conversation that matters"! My initial response is to CHANGE ME to US My reflection involves a dialogue with with all authorities and interested Sisters / SHARING HEALTH CARE SERVICES intra- congregational. Any Sister wishing to consider this possibility would spend time in communal discernment and visit such Health Care Facilities throughout the Congregation. This goes with what Chapter 2019 called us to : go deeper, journey farther, respond boldly and CREATIVELY ? I've looked to Carol Zinn, SSJ for further inspiration: "It is not change we are looking for but TRANSFORMATION." She has led me to ponder: What is best for the common good of the Community regarding our Health Care Services. To end on a personal note . . .my dreaming days are over.... I live in reality! With Covid 19 Pandemic: life will NEVER be same. TOGETHER, let's live for the life of the World!

114	Topics can be discussed at our clusters, our assemblies, and ideas shared via technology. On line education opportunities, using videos, sharing ideas from books on the topic would be helpful.	4/19/2020 12:43 PM

117	Zoom has worked for me if it's after work hours.	4/19/2020 11:39 AM
118	I have to admit that I am technologically challenged to use zoom for gatherings; recently, due to crisis, I have been forced to learn it for Board Meetings. Maybe now, I would be more comfortable to get involved in zoom gatherings across the Congregation. As always, I have found intra-congregational gatherings (in person) very helpful and enriching. I am not a dreamer, so whatever you come up with, I'll try to participate as best I can.	4/19/2020 9:53 AM
119	I'm not sure because as an associate I've not been directly involved. However, I do know that the internet provides a wide span of opportunities to connect globally as well as locally. That being said, I believe that being in the presence of each other allows for a more personal experience of the holy in each person. I also know from experience that the people that I have served with in the service of others have been the most rewarding and long lasting.	4/19/2020 8:39 AM
120	I do not want to ignore this opportunity but I just cannot get myself to relate to it. I simply do not have a useful thought. Thanks for asking though.	4/19/2020 12:15 AM

127	I know some of the sisters from provinces other than my own but not as many as I would like. Any opportunity that would provide an opportunity to interact with the sisters (get to know them) would be appreciated.	4/18/2020 3:40 PM
128	Before the present reality of social distancing, I would have said that providing opportunities for cross-unit sharing with a variety of sisters (unit, age, experience) would be extremely beneficial. Since the advent of Covid-19, I would modify that to the formation of stable ZOOM discussion groups. By 'stable' I mean the participants would remain the same and meet on a scheduled, regular basis--perhaps monthly. I think the groups should be between 8 - 12 sisters/associates.	4/18/2020 3:32 PM

132	I believe the CLG can continue to encourage participation in dialogue and action across the provinces. We are, of necessity, growing in our ability to use Zoom and other methods of distance communication. I loved the opportunities to travel and commune in person with other parts of the congregation. In today's world, CLG might offer a listing of existing gatherings, convenings or invite some conversations around crucial topics.	4/18/2020 11:04 AM

135	We have some experience now with meetings by ZOOM, so invitations to book studies, lectures, conversations could offer a greater variety of ways of cross-province conversations. I probably would not just pick a name or number to initiate a conversation, but would be more apt to join such a conversation.	4/18/2020 10:33 AM
136	I'm a member of the Kakehashi cohort. Those of us who connect regularly and for ongoing Zoom gatherings have deepened our relationships over time. I would wish that other sisters could have similar opportunities to become part of small Zoom groups where they could get to know sisters from all around the Congregation and be able to build up these relationships of care, sharing and trust.	4/18/2020 10:14 AM opportunities will probably work best for me. Also, We are Carondelet is a big help spreading information, stories, events and resources. Kim does a beautiful job in keeping us informed and coordinating.

147	So many of us live in "mega communities" which are systems unto themselves. It is hard to make a particular practice which would result in a "mega" improvement in the environment. What is needed is an "all hands on deck" at all levels of our institutional living situations stressing the importance of conservation, recycling, composting. We still see plastic tray-ware being used in this pandemic crisis (not knowing if it is compostable or not, and not knowing if service staff is instructed to the separation steps needed). I think of universities like NYU where the entire campus has gone "green." That takes leadership and units of encouragement to rev up the attitudes of all members. Chapter named this the first of its calls to us; yet I am saddened by the continued ho-hum attitude of too many. Sorry.	4/17/2020 6:12 PM
148	While Zoom is good, when we are able to gather, I think face-to-face meetings to discern our goals and decision-making are better.	4/17/2020 6:11 PM
149	Gathering persons who perform the same work, such as, Directors of Association; provide opportunities for persons to spend time in one of the ministries, such as, Journey to New Life. Sisters interested in working with women recently discharged from prison could go to that Province and work with the sisters and associates involved in that ministry. Use of technology, such as, ZOOM, to dialogue with persons who work with Association (already in place). Perhaps someone with a specialty might give a presentation with folks from different provinces joining in the discussion after through ZOOM. Retreats in different provinces for sisters. They could remain on for another few days to interact with sisters and associates. Vacations might be planned on visiting another province and meeting sisters as part of the vacation trip. Phone calls, phone sister. Each sister who wishes would sign up to contact a sister in another province once or twice a month for one year.	4/17/2020 5:30 PM
150	In light of the global pandemic I see an urgent need to revisit, renew and recommit ourselves to our vows by redefining the vows for the 21st Century through retreats given with particular emphases on the Vows and living those Vows in Community as we are Called together for the Life of The World. It's not about what works best for me but it's about us giving authentic witness.	4/17/2020 5:28 PM

At the moment, in person connecting feels so important, and doing that around a specific issue -- e.g. caring for earth/climate change, or understanding our role in oppressive institutions -- would be appealing.	4/17/2020 3:49 PM

166	Due to Covid...travel may not be as possible as before. I have used Zoom, but am not keen on it.	4/17/2020 2:41 PM
167	Given the state of our nation and with this pandemic, as well as our own finances and energy levels, I believe we must make use of technology in every way possible we must invest in platforms like Zoom and we must teach each other how to access and use technology. With some of the money we save from traveling less, let us equip ourselves with current and innovative wYs to gather and communicate. Also some of our sisters will gladly participate it are less likely to create how to engage. Let us spend some resources asking folks who know how best to gather to do and be who we want to be. When travel becomes more safe and possible, we can talk about face to face gatherings. Let's not waste time. Now is the time to use technology.	4/17/2020 2:40 PM

Provide a listing of resources (groups, articles, etc) that would be helpful, especially relating to empowering the laity to carry on our charism, to support and empower women with whom the Sisters come in contact at all levels.	4/17/2020 12:08 PM
182	It is my understanding that a major goal of intra-congregational dialogue is to get us to know one another. For me, the face to face gathering was useful. However, because so many were involved, I didn't really get to know anyone. I don't "know" everyone in this Province, so I don't expect to get to know everyone in the other Provinces. However, it the same small group got together periodically, with time to learn more about each other, but also with some topic to be discussed, I think more could be accomplished.	4/17/2020 11:45 AM

189	Whatever opportunities support the different provinces are opportunities to be supported. I firmly believe that as a congregation, we are in our dying, and I want us to go out, with a BANG and not a whimper. So whatever enlivens us, keeps us relevant, helps us to help the dear neighbor ought to be supported until there are no more of us left. We have had a wonderful history; we have done many wonderful things. Let us not feel sorry for ourselves at the end.	4/16/2020 4:05 PM
190	I respond well to emails and written "dialogue." There are probably ways to do (say, Google docs?), documents collectively for sharing and dialogue. Lately, I have been somewhat encouraged by the use of Zoom in the province.	4/16/2020 2:20 PM
191	Best way for me is by emails. Meetings are difficult for me at age 93.	4/16/2020 12:39 PM

202	Best for me- Zoom or one to one phone and Face Time conversations	4/16/2020 10:52 AM
203	I am not great in the technological opportunities so I think I would like us to have some time to come together in person to spend time together in retreat or vacation or some common activity that might interest a group that really don't know each other Challenge us to do this at home as well as across the congregation – sometimes we learn more about a person when their necrology is read rather than living and ministering with them for years.	4/16/2020 10:47 AM
204	(1) Could we organize something like "Ted talks," brief presentations that could be solicited or volunteered....maybe sisters gather via Zoom, listen to the input (short-ish), then they discuss it....and maybe each of these ends with some kind of statement by each, e.g. "what was most significant for me," "this makes me want to...," or some other prompt. (2) Can we think of a way (or ways) to arrange for "intergenerational" conversations or gatherings? This idea has passed through my mind lots of times in recent years, but I haven't come up with a suggestion that could be "inclusive" of anyone who wants to participate, because we have a predominance of older members and a small group of younger members in our congregation. If this seems like an idea to be pursued, maybe you could ask a small group, or all of us (?) to think about how it could be accomplished?	4/15/2020 10:30 PM

206	The gatherings we have had before seem to work well.	4/15/2020 2:05 PM
207	I think zoom calls and interacting in small groups with members across provinces have been the most effective opportunities. I helped to organize one such multi-province gathering at Carondelet. Given our present reality, which could continue for some time, I think a variety of zoom interactions may work best. Our province gatherings in small groups were also very effective. I think more of those gatherings could be helpful once we are able to be together again. During this pandemic, I've touched base with sisters from other provinces. Perhaps phone conversations with sisters from other provinces could also be helpful.	4/15/2020 1:57 PM

219	In this age of on-line meetings, perhaps we could gather by topic interest to address the Acts of Chapter. What is L.A. doing around issues of oppression that Albany could learn from and join, etc. How can we use technology not only to get to know one another better, but also to address the needs of our time?	4/14/2020 3:34 PM
220	I'd like to see an alternative to the ACOF gathering which was postponed. To stay strong and keep moving forward together we need to Be together . I know a lot of preparation was done for the gathering. Can some of it be adapted to the new "context of our lives"?	4/14/2020 3:30 PM
221	Zoom calls but more structured for meaningful conversations; face-to-face gatherings around issues; zoom meetings centered on the directives just for discussion without there being a specific result. Just sharing opinions. Later, after good discussion, might need to have conversations more targeted.	4/14/2020 11:11 AM

223	Book clubs and classes like Hedgerow that help us find words for our experience.	4/14/2020 9:25 AM
224	Being in Hawaii provides a challenge for intra-congregational dialogue and sharing, and modern technology has given us many opportunities to connect. Written information works best for me, via email, newsletter, online communication. So far the few attempts to have group meetings via video conferencing have not worked well for me - difficult to hear, folks seem too far away even if I can see them. Video that I can view on my own computer is better, provided its easy for me to access. Zoom meetings are good if not too large a group and well managed. Simple computer actions are possible for me, but I view it as a tool and a chore.; not fun or my first choice. Small group sharings I prefer, with information that is brought back from the mainland by someone here or viewing videos at our small meetings where we can all hear and see.	4/13/2020 3:26 PM

I'm 83 and in medium condition for that age. I don't go out much but I want to be involved. So what would work best for me is to share in some simple way with another sister.	4/11/2020 12:49 PM
231	I appreciate the emails and Zoom gatherings at this time, but will be grateful to have personal contact when the pandemic is over. I don't know enough about technology to come up with other scenarios, but I would feel free to email or phone Sally, Mary, or Therese since I know them better, but hope to get to know Sean and Patty better also. Prayers and thank you for all you are doing for all of us.	4/11/2020 10:50 AM

Also, I wonder about using the already existing province assemblies and arranging for attendance for sisters from other provinces. Something like was done the summer of 2018.	4/10/2020 10:21 AM

246	I do not know. Virtual gatherings through zoom are a start but more visceral connection is needed	4/7/2020 11:11 PM
247	Online sharing (zoom or other), perhaps one to one conversation between 2 people of different units.	4/7/2020 9:59 PM
248	Sending more from the Leadership Team to Hawaii to speak to us.	4/7/2020 7:26 PM
249	Make available the locations of all members and ministries throughout the country (or world) so those who are not living in/near a community can connect more easily.	4/7/2020 7:01 PM
250	Internet based gatherings because they gather a greater variety of people and don't involve fossil fuel use traveling.	4/7/2020 4:24 PM
251	zoom call with 5-7 people, including ACOF	4/7/2020 4:20 PM
252	Not sure I have suggestions here. other than to say that dialogue and sharing opportunities can happen in meetings, online, surveys, informal and formal conversations. I often feel like we're overwhelmed with communications, but don't know what the solution is. One thing I think I've learned during this coronavirus quarantine is the need to be fully present, in person, with others is the ideal way to communicate. Not phone calls, emails, social media, zooming, or any other form of contact. We need to interpret body language, visual cues, voice tone, etc. This makes the contact so much more human.	4/7/2020 4:09 PM
253	Periodic zoom discussions with mixed attendees from across the Congregation on a particular topic or book read or what is happening in each area of the country or section where one is located. Partnering each month for 3 months with one sister I do not know to share through face time or skype. Then switch with some one else for another 3 months. Have zoom book clubs we can join through zoom pending the book being read. We currently have one with sisters from Maui, Honolulu, Los Angeles and Latham-enriching. Have sisters for a week or two at a time trade places across the congregation where and when possible. For example I go to live for two weeks in another sisters community and she comes to live in mine not as a tourist of just a visitor but a participating community member. Have units have a gathering two at a time. Keep rotating which two have members gather and share with one another.	4/7/2020 3:34 PM
254	Be conscious of the way different people are able to and to read/understand materials	4/7/2020 3:27 PM
255	a small meeting of sisters involved or interested in sharing at a deep level	4/7/2020 2:24 PM
256	I find my best intra-congregational dialogue and sharing occurs when I am working on a committee around a common project or issue. Perhaps identify some "common projects" and invite sisters to participate through "virtual" communication (i.e. write a letter to a congressperson or to an editor on one of the Congregational chapter directives, then share your work with others in the province, committees who could further their thoughts.	4/7/2020 2:20 PM
257	my age inhibits me to plan to far in the future.	4/7/2020 1:58 PM
258	I am retired and in fairly good health at 78. However I'm rather limited in my technology abilities However I would enjoy some other kinds of intra-congregational sharings	4/7/2020 1:57 PM
259	Some of us need extra help to participate via technology. A simple show & tell about where on the laptop to set up ZOOM. simple show and tell instruction on where on our laptop the places to click on for ZOOM or any other thing like Skype. I get lost trying!o a simple	4/7/2020 1:32 PM
260	Gatherings on line provide a format more easily and cheaply accessed than meeting in person when potential attendees are at some distance. A combination may be effective as well, with some present in person and the remainder on line.	4/7/2020 1:31 PM
261	Zoom could be a good way to meet and we could start right away	4/7/2020 1:24 PM
262	No travel!!!! Utilize the digital revolution we are living through wherever possible – this is how we witness to our vows and charism....	4/7/2020 1:13 PM
263	Use an insurance company that would cover the congregation if that is cheaper. Maybe sharing buying cars as one group. Using Zoom for communication among us. ...	4/7/2020 1:13 PM
264	I would prefer person to person exchanges.	4/7/2020 1:05 PM
265	i love when we can see each other, technology can shorten the distances between groups, both live and recorded meetings.	4/7/2020 12:53 PM

266	Zoom is probably the best for me right now	4/7/2020 12:47 PM
267	Zoom meetings and live streaming of events.	4/7/2020 12:15 PM
268	1) Cisco Webex group meetings to maintain privacy, 2) Vimeo live streaming not only from St Louis but St Paul and other locations too, 3) International gathering of ACOF with all invited (not just leadership or specially chosen favorites) as was done in 1987 in Cincinnati and 1991 in Los Angeles	4/7/2020 11:40 AM
269	Invitations to gathering for the purpose of advancing our understanding of, actions that are being taken, actions that we might consider, and how we can help each other to do so. These can be in the form of face to face conferences, meetings, and workshops. But, also Zoom meetings and other virtual meetings that pull people together face to face. This might also be activities that call us to group prayer and reflection, group discernment, and efforts to read the signs of the times.	4/7/2020 11:26 AM
270	Virtual groups are really good ways of doing this...I did a 3 day virtual meeting with over 100 people, with break out groups, etc. It went really well.	4/7/2020 10:45 AM
271	Zoom sessions have been great! Perhaps Zoom sessions between provinces might be helpful in knowing what others are thinking about the implementation of the Chapter Directives.	4/7/2020 10:44 AM
272	I am drawing a blank, sorry :(4/7/2020 10:33 AM
273	I think we need experiences that are not bound by air travel. we need to consider our carbon footprint when coordinating meetings and gatherings. Technology provides a multiplicity of ways to share.	4/7/2020 10:32 AM
274	face to face gatherings; online class with small group talk, retreat at one of our centers, book group on current theology, vacation with other congregation members	4/7/2020 9:38 AM

Q4 How do you believe that the Congregational Leadership Team can best assist all of us to realize our dreams for the congregation?

Chapter Directives Survey

#	RESPONSES	DATE
1	For the Congregational Leadership Team to go to each province and ask what are our dreams for the congregation and ways of implementing those dreams.	5/6/2020 2:30 PM
2	I believe the Congregational Leadership Team should continue to meet by zoom as has been happening since the virus has us quarantined. It is the most economical way to communicate and share. Skype is another way but not good for group meeting. E-mail is another way to connect.	4/29/2020 10:32 AM
3	I think the conversations have to now include our current situation. I myself feel very much in flux and am not sure where my attention will have to be in months to come.	4/27/2020 4:15 PM
4	Be contemplative and active. Evolve away from either/or thinking to both/and thinking. Be compassionate, loving leaders.	4/27/2020 3:32 PM
5	Be true to yourselves. Visit local communities.	4/27/2020 3:19 PM
6	Be present-come visit the communities. As a team rotate between provinces.	4/27/2020 3:09 PM
7	Keep us informed of some of the great things that our younger members are doing.	4/27/2020 11:45 AM
8	At this time of crisis, and following so soon after the LA fire, it is hard to look to the future. Maybe we need time for the dust to settle, and to offer thanks and remind ourselves we are the Congregation of the Great Love of God, then we look beyond ourselves to a world in need.	4/27/2020 11:14 AM
9	The CLT has an opportunity to connect with the whole congregation and take in a wider view and help us have a bigger vision grounded in Chapter directives. I think CLT can help inform and highlight things between units gaining greater understanding of all the expressions of the Charism- Sisters, ACOF, St. Joseph Workers, Partners in Ministry etc. CLT can bring wisdom and a healing presence as each Province/Unit discerns governance.	4/27/2020 9:58 AM
10	a feeling of solidarity among the sisters is felt when we have communal prayer and congregational sharing of speakers and clarification of each step in the process so all of us hear the same information.	4/25/2020 1:59 PM
11	In relating to CLG and working groups, the CLT has the privileged position of seeing the whole work of the Congregation. With this perspective CLT can amplify all the ministerial and justice work happening on local/congregational levels among Sisters, ACOF, Partners, Agregee, and SJWs in the name of Congregation. CLT can show how this builds the future of our community and mission within the congregation and beyond.	4/24/2020 10:59 AM
12	Our dream to become one could be expanded with questions we can think about or state our opinions more with other Provinces before we vote.	4/24/2020 10:16 AM
13	Facilitate prayer	4/24/2020 10:12 AM
14	I don't know what it means to have dreams for the Congregation. The very question implies that the Congregation will continue. I'm not so sure it will; nor do I think it has to. The Gospel must continue, but not necessarily the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet. I think the Leadership Team can best assist us by helping us to become freer, more open, more centered on the Mission of Jesus so we are able to move wherever we need to move, to do whatever we need to do.	4/24/2020 10:10 AM
15	To provide education and ways of inter congregational communications on various directives and their implementation.	4/24/2020 10:07 AM
16	No idea	4/24/2020 10:03 AM
17	Be present with us in our varied provinces and reflect back to us how you experience our diversities, our beauties, our traditions, our strengths, our weaknesses, our spiritualities, our theologies.... Help us to grow together through reflecting on our experiences together... what diversities do you see and experience within each province unit... how do our differing geographies and local cultures provide wisdoms, strengths, and vulnerabilities within each of us? What, and how, can we learn to appreciate these more deeply and in common-ly, for the good of all of us? And be a church that is more whole and holy and integral, as in "lives with integrity"?	4/24/2020 10:00 AM
18	I do believe the Congregational Leadership team have a good idea plus the team meet with other teams' leaders what's best for us.	4/24/2020 9:57 AM

Chapter Directives Survey

19	Challenge us. Be present to us. Be transparent to us.	4/24/2020 9:52 AM
20	I believe leaders are our animators...hearing what is coming from the body of the congregations, communication the efforts of those who are realizing or attempting to realize our dreams. I'm wondering if we don't need a broader perspective. I understand, especially from Carol Zinn, the thrust to joining forces beyond our own congregation to unite such dreams with other committed women who are ready to bring about, in their understanding of the Spirit's movement, the "something new." These women could be other congregations or lay women who have already picked up the ball in many areas. I fear that we are going to maintain a "tribal" perspective when Life is bigger than that. I don't believe our list of dreams is singular to us. One Canadian priest many years ago asked, "What is the Spirit doing I the world today?" and then added: "That is your invitation to what you are to do."	4/24/2020 9:50 AM
21	Include methods as this and enlargement of this.	4/24/2020 9:40 AM
22	I'm sure they keep updated and do their best to lead us and encourage us to be the best and do our best.	4/24/2020 9:38 AM
23	Work on simplification of the structure you are a part of, which the last team neglected to do even though it was a Chapter 13 directive to them. Be good to yourselves at this time and be alive when we come together.	4/23/2020 2:24 PM
24	CLT could encourage us to recognize and celebrate the ways we are currently dividing the city and meeting the needs of the dear neighbor. We could begin by looking at the ministries in our own vice/province directory and that of one other vice/province. We would likely find resonance and uniqueness, and much to celebrate. Celebration enhances joy and frees us up to invite new dreams and commit to living them.	4/23/2020 11:17 AM
25	Their openness to listening will bring rewards	4/23/2020 11:13 AM
26	Call us to accountability each year. Use theological reflection process so that what we learned or experiences becomes the first step of the next year – move forward in an integrated way. Call us to to use our charism and and gifts we bring as csj to decisions we make along the way.	4/23/2020 10:57 AM
27	By continuing to build connections with each geographic area of Sisters and ACOF.	4/23/2020 10:11 AM
28	By doing woing what you are doing now. Being open and listening to what the Provinces and individual Sisters are saying. If you get a really innovative idea share it with us. The best thing you all do is give us hope and enthusiasm for our future and encouragement	4/22/2020 6:43 PM
29	This team has the disadvantage of being new and with the curent restrictions will not be able to travel to get to know the Sisters and Associates. Gettig to know each other is more than important as we are trying to discern who we want to be together.	4/22/2020 2:43 PM
30	Continued awareness in what is occurring in each of the unit and communication directed to said unit; continued practice of encouraging congregation-wide practice, i.e. pandemic prayer times	4/22/2020 12:28 PM
31	By speaking out prophetically on our behalf.	4/22/2020 12:05 PM
32	Know us. Help us to know one another. Invite us to the more. Listen	4/22/2020 11:50 AM
33	From your 'balcony perspective' of all of us and the national and global religious congreagations perspective, help us keep thinking/acting large and wide...you can share perspectives that others of us may not have.	4/22/2020 7:58 AM
34	Try to seek ways of using technology ---we are learning a lot about using technology during this time of sheltering in place but we need more and more creative ways of doing this.	4/22/2020 12:19 AM
35	My "dream" for the congregation is that we recognize and celebrate how those of us are "dividing the cities" and serving are doing it: e.g., look at the ministries in the directories, some being offered at great cost to the CSJs ministering. For just a very few examples, St. Joseph Center in Venice, the Joseph Worker Program across the Congregation, Alexandria House, St. Joseph High School Lakewood and in Tsu, Holy Spirit, Center, Concord House, Missouri State University, as well as so many other places across the Congregation. My dream is that CLT [and all of us] celebrate what we are doing. Dreams will happen the same way they have always happened: by persons having dreams and acting and, hopefully, being appropriately supported by encouragement and resources, not by trying to figure out how to assist first. Assist when the dream is happening or has happened. There are dozens of dreams that need	4/21/2020 11:09 PM assistance. Look at their websites. Send e-mails or notes of support (with $ when possible) e.g., in case of fires. Encourage and support fund-raisers. Account for and accommodate the reality of the working CSJs.

36	I don't think much about the role of congregational leadership - since it is not something I can do much about. I do believe it is important in my life to try to live into these statements as best I can - and to be accountable . Probably i see the role of leadership as facilitators, able to listen to the voices not only of members, but also of those who have little voice	4/21/2020 10:20 PM
37	No Comment, unsure	4/21/2020 9:03 PM
38	Listen listen listen to the Spirit.be open to new ideas,new avenues of religious life.	4/21/2020 7:07 PM
39	Loved the idea of on site visits -- and appreciated the virtual conversations and tours.	4/21/2020 7:05 PM
40	Pray for wisdom and understanding and listening to each other with an open heart and mind.	4/21/2020 5:18 PM
41	Continue to invite us to share our 'insights, ideas, and willingness to have regular conversations with one another about our 'dreams' for the congregation.	4/21/2020 4:42 PM
42	This is a very unusual and difficult time because of the pandemic. i appreciate very much the "lightness" of the poems and the jib jab! I also appreciate very much the Kim Westerman "Carondelet" with the noticieras from our Sisters in Peru. We are, I believe, thinking and acting in some ways into oneness.	4/21/2020 4:35 PM
43	Not sure. Keep in touch through emails, etc.	4/21/2020 4:16 PM
44	Keep the dialog going. Perhaps articles or topics for discussion. I'm thinking of the LCWR occasional papers dedicated to "meaning making" or "moral imagination".g	4/21/2020 3:04 PM
45	Be present with us in our varied provinces and reflect back to us how you experience our diversities, our beauties, our traditions, our strengths, our weaknesses, our spiritualities, our theologies.... Help us to grow together through reflecting on our experiences together... what diversities do you see and experience within each province unit... how do our differing geographies and local cultures provide wisdoms, strengths, and vulnerabilities within each of us? What, and how, can we learn to appreciate these more deeply and in common-ly, for the good of all of us? And be a church that is more whole and holy and integral, as in "lives with integrity"? Thank you for asking, even in this time when it is so difficult to think about life to come- our world is changed, and hopefully we will respond not as in 9/11 by making war, but by changing systems to all right racism, sexism, capitalism, globalization, industrialized economy in the direction of valuing all people and species, and so much more!	4/21/2020 3:01 PM
46	Enable provinces to act autonomously on local levels. Many ministries are local & best implemented locally. However take to congregation level ministries that corss geographic boundaries and my be administered at Congregation level, such as St. Joseph Worker Program. Move "mission & ministry" to center of CSJ community circle & live. Embrace partners in mission.	4/21/2020 2:52 PM
47	Communication and very close work with Province leadership.	4/21/2020 2:15 PM
48	See above! Keep speaking of Jesus and the Gospels. Call us to contemplation.	4/21/2020 1:19 PM
49	Be open and transparent about the issues facing us as we all age and become less in numbers and no longer had 50-60 people entering the postulancy. Encourage prayer for vocations and opportunities for praying together and adoration.	4/21/2020 1:07 PM
50	Help us to get moving on Becoming One as we JOIN TOGETHER on Zoom and topic clusters while we're stuck in our homes. - Kim Westerman is a genius on grouping us....do more....topic centered... - Publicize signs of HOPE: St. Joseph Workers; Car Caravan to Support Sisters at CC -4/19/2020	4/21/2020 1:04 PM

52	What are our 'dreams'? We need to articulate those first.	4/21/2020 12:22 PM
53	By hearing about the dreams of our sisters through visiting directly their communities and ministry and asking questions about their insights. By sharing these ideas throughout the congregation. By hearing from the persons including bishops and pastors with whom sisters share life and ministry. By binging to the sisters new insights gained when Leadership Team Members attend LCWR, IUSG and other national and international gatherings. Talks at these	4/21/2020 10:45 AM gatherings often raise ideas that lend new insights. By investigating new ideas from provincial teams.

54	Work collaboratively to broaden our vision.	4/21/2020 9:02 AM
55	choose a focus for this year and provide bibliography, film, talks, etc for ongoing education and then action we can participate in	4/21/2020 7:16 AM
56	By their example, more emphasis on prayer, and back to silent retreats in community and opportunities for adoration of the blessed sacrament at least monthly.	4/21/2020 6:29 AM
57	I think we need support as a Community to get through these next months with the virus .	4/20/2020 8:58 PM
58	Strive for a good balance between local initiatives and efforts of the entire congregation	4/20/2020 8:37 PM
59	Share with all of us the results of the survey so that we may be energized by the thoughts of our fellow Sisters and move towards the more. The continuation of the information sent out by Kim is wonderful. Continue to make the newsletters, etc sent out by each province available to all of us. Voting is vital. With elections coming up I think there needs to be information and speeches that let all our Sisters realize that this election is not a one issue (abortion) only vote for our nation.	4/20/2020 8:35 PM
60	Being our representatives at major national and international meetings, conferences etc. and then sharing the information, insights etc. with the congregation. Help up to look broader and wider in the global reality and how we can respond.	4/20/2020 7:49 PM
61	Earth crisis - to take seriously those who speak out, to affirm them by communicating our support, to keep informed and questioning. To take the time to study and reflect on these serious matters, political decisions, and to speak out when we disagree. To more closely follow the lead of our Justice Peace and Integrity communications. Collective voice - affirm newscasters who question decisions, treatment of women reporters, truth of reports and news briefs.	4/20/2020 6:22 PM
62	I guess I would ask the CLT to continue to keep us connected. This is an interesting time to say this because of the disruption in our normal routines that is happening. It may be a good thing in the end as it causes us to examine our need for connection!	4/20/2020 6:12 PM
63	I like what you are already doing--encouraging good sharing of information in the Carondelet publication--both personal information, and also updates and announcements. We definitely are interested in what's going on, and what it's like back there! Perhaps pictures of what's happening in the various areas of the congregation, ordinary as well as significant. I think you can best help us articulate and realize our dreams for the congregation by what you are already doing--reminding us of who we are, the tasks we have set for ourselves in chapter, the progress we're making in various pockets of the congregation, etc. P.S. I personally love the weekly poetry! We can't forget the beauty of our world and each other. Thank you!	4/20/2020 5:49 PM
64	C26 #52 states "Faithful to the inspiration of the Spirit, (the CLT) encourages the congregation to move always toward a greater love God and love of others in God." How to do this? write letters of encouragement, inform us of what is needed and what is being done, suggest readings or other media for us. Keep listening to the Spirit.	4/20/2020 4:36 PM
65	Continue to stay in touch through your frequent email messages. Your messages are nice mixture of business, information, and caring. I love the poetry especially. Hearing from the team frequently highlights my feeling of connection to the congregation.	4/20/2020 4:30 PM
66	continue to give us options and invitations to share what is happening in our units and regions with each of the directives, e.g., zoom, skype, etc.	4/20/2020 4:16 PM
67	Keep connecting with members in person [or at least via social media, zoom, etc. when possible. Make the relational connections. Keep people in the loop of what the big picture concerns and issues are. Provide resources to keep horizons both broad and focused; Raise good questions about the concerns we've already identified and continue to broaden the conversations; Don't be afraid to raise hard questions. Continue to share the depth of your own backgrounds with the whole congregation.	4/20/2020 3:47 PM
68	Our ongoing dream is the ministry of Jesus. Let that take us where it may, with your wise guidance.	4/20/2020 3:46 PM
69	Continue to encourage participation Ask definite questions	4/20/2020 3:40 PM

70	Synthesize and distribute the survey responses; help us identify more ways to live out our vow of poverty/simplicity; help us get the tools we need to be able to participate in zoom (or something similar) events. Many need to be much more adept at using technology and need to have the appropriate technology at hand. Communicate, communicate, communicate with openness, trust, listening, prayerfulness.	4/20/2020 3:23 PM

73	caring, and pushing us to action. I look forward to receiving your messages, and love the poetry you share. Thank you.	4/20/2020 2:21 PM
74	Keep listening and offers suggestions based on what You hear from your listening.	4/20/2020 1:49 PM
75	Keep encouraging small group dialogues. We really need to be accepting of our responsibility in the future evolution of our mission and charism.	4/20/2020 12:56 PM
76	Keep communicating with the congregation in all the ways you have been doing it, for example, the Monday poetry. If you are connected with us, we are connected more profoundly with one another. Be on the record in using our collective voice to accompany others in speaking their truth. Even if the Federation and LCWR come out with statements, there is something about CSJ Carondelet's voice that has credibility and can be used in service to the dear neighbor. Listen to our unique cultures and ways of being together and reaching out. Honor our unique points of view, for example, try to understand how the province that has the least number of sisters can look into the future with a mindset of abundance. Keep probing into what we mean when we talk about "ever-widening-circles." Come (in person or virtually) and take in the atmosphere and intent of our Community Assembly as well as the Consociate and Sister Assemblies. I hope you will encourage us to capitalize on the energy you will find here.	4/20/2020 12:55 PM
77	Interested in the successes and failures of other congregations in similar situations like ours	4/20/2020 12:44 PM
78	I would like the CLT to put things in action regarding the Chapter directives, but I would also like the CLT to be our face and voice in the world, the church, and our own geographical realities. I'd like you to speak and write with our congregational voice, appear at national and world gatherings with our congregational face.	4/20/2020 12:37 PM
79	I would first have to know what "our dreams" are.	4/20/2020 12:03 PM
80	Believe the role of leadership is to listen, invite, facilitate, enable members to freeflowing conversation/open communication. This means identifying the obstacles to achieve this and removing/reducing them. Actual work happens locally. Leadership can strengthen partnerships with other groups, i.e. Network, Federation, LCWR, etc.	4/20/2020 11:59 AM
81	The CIG can be very helpful in knowing many of us across the community and helping us to make these connections. You have begun this with the zoom conferences and as more people become comfortable with that, we can make more contacts. You see the community as a whole and we see it in our provinces. Whatever we do about discernment for one etc. it is so important we have conversations about many possibilities and make the best decisions. We can feel comfortable with what we know and not look at what other options that are there for the good of the whole community. Help us blow our minds and look at every possible option and then narrow them down. This is what we did when we started with building Carondelet Village and look at the great results. When I lived in Hawaii with sisters from other provinces my life, attitudes and views were changed by interacting with one another. Let's get back to that and build something new and current. It's going to take a CLG team who has courage, wisdom, creativity, persistence, energy, ability to connect with people and connect people with one another, stamina and mostly love of community and desire to make it all it can be and that team is you: Therese, Mary, Sally, Sean and Patty. blessings and promise of prayer and support	4/20/2020 11:56 AM
82	I think there could be a "central" collecting station of data which could be synthesized and made available for all to know, add to and develop in new and yet unknown ways. Continue your enthusiasm for all that is and all that could be!	4/20/2020 11:51 AM committees. Encourage full participation.

84	Continue to be open to the Spirit in these times of transition. The CSJ's have a great history of God interacting with the congregation. Take care of the senior sisters and God with take care of the community and charism. Unity and reconciliation!!	4/20/2020 11:45 AM
85	As units engage in their discernment processes, keep us abreast of ongoing conversations/decisions so we keep on hearing different voices among us. Maybe we will begin to realize that we are really one.	4/20/2020 11:42 AM
86	We need to keep sharing our values of inclusion, , and protection of the most vulnerable. The virus has heightened my awareness of how different are the values and experiences of the different parts of the country where we live. Do we even agree on what is truth.	4/20/2020 11:37 AM
87	Continue to provide opportunities to respond to the needs of the world, locally and together. The current situation certainly challenges all of us.	4/20/2020 11:37 AM
88	Get some leaders to help implement the above and monitor what is happening.	4/20/2020 11:34 AM
89	We don't need a lot of words but we do need words that challenge us to GO DEEPER... JOURNEY FARTHER...RESPOND BOLDY. DARE TO BE PROPHETIC.	4/20/2020 11:31 AM
90	I personally am beyond dreaming. I take seriously the words on p. 1 from Congregational Chapter 2019 which says,"Now we turn toward our future. In the coming months and years, we will live into challenging and inspiring commitments in our Statement of Future Direction, and into the evolution of our governance. With open minds, hearts, and wills, together let us go deeper, journey farther, and respond boldly. This for me isn't calling me or us to dream. The Hopi prayer says, There is a river now flowing now very fast. It is so great and swift, that there are those who will be afraid. They will try and hold onto the shore. They will feel like they are being torn apart and will suffer greatly. Know the river has its destruction. The elders say we must let go of the shore, Push off into the middle of the river, keep our eyes open and our heads above water. Gather yourselves. Banish the word "struggle" from your attitude and vocabulary. All that we do now must be done in a sacred manner and celebration. We are the ones we have been waiting for.	4/20/2020 10:58 AM
91	Please continue encouraging us throughout the congregation to STAY INVOLVED with all that is being asked of us. When I get discouraged I re-claim inspiration from Margaret Kohler, CSJ: " We need to carry each other like an acrobat, trusting one another, no going back, risking and letting go ". Between July 30th. and August 2nd/ LA Province will be in Assembly. One full day we will be in communal discernment on our future Governance. Suggestion: perhaps, Therese, Sally, Sean, Patty and Mary could enter our "Sacred Space" by way of ZOOM or Video extending a BLESSING to your Sisters on the day we enter into communal discernment. I am grateful and feel connected when: ~I read Kim Westerman's "We are Carondelet " ~ receiving your weekly dose of poetry ~YOUR EASTER VIIDEO arrived ... Both the Video and Poetry lifted my spirits! The time will come and your Sisters in Los Angeles will FLING OPEN OUR DOORS welcoming you with gratitude, love and Shalom! Meanwhile, let us keep each other close during the Covid 19 Pandemic and the World! God be with us all!	4/20/2020 10:49 AM
92	I think that amidst a more "contemplative" time (such as with quarantine) we are able to connect more deeply with our dreams...and we can see more clearly what really matters. I think that ZOOM groups/sharing are a helpful way to share what is emerging within us...aka Sharing of the Heart	4/20/2020 10:42 AM
93	dream "ahead" of us	4/20/2020 10:02 AM
94	The CIG can be very helpful in knowing many of us across the community and helping us to make these connections. You have begun this with the zoom conferences and as more people become comfortable with that, we can make more contacts. You see the community as a whole and we see it in our provinces. Whatever we do about discernment for one etc. it is so important we have conversations about many possibilities and make the best decisions. We can feel comfortable with what we know and not look at what other options that are there for the good of the whole community. Help us blow our minds and look at every possible option and then narrow them down. This is what we did when we started with building Carondelet Village and look at the great results. When I lived in Hawaii with sisters from other provinces my life, attitudes and views were changed by interacting with one another. Let's get back to that and build something new and current. It's going to take a CLG team who has courage, wisdom, creativity, persistence, energy, ability to connect with people and connect people with one	4/20/2020 10:00 AM another, stamina and mostly love of community and desire to make it all it can be and that team is you: Therese, Mary, Sally, Sean and Patty. blessings and promise of prayer and support

95	Communicate frequently and with transparency	4/20/2020 9:13 AM
96	Do not be afraid to challenge us. Our viability as a congregation is at stake. Strong leadership toward unifying our governance structures is needed. We cannot continue to sustain five separate, autonomous units. It is not enough to say "We are one congregation." We do not act as if we are one. Continued parochialism will have a negative effect on the very existence of the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet.	4/20/2020 8:45 AM
97	Provide opportunities via media technology to interact, share ideas among the provinces. Members of the CLT share your insights with all of us.	4/20/2020 8:29 AM
98	Not limit ourselves with our forums. That all is possible with prayer and concentration.	4/20/2020 7:58 AM
99	By maintaining close communication with each province through contact with our leadership who will in turn convey this communication to us.	4/19/2020 11:03 PM

101	Provide opportunities for discussions and design a feasible plan to move forward.	4/19/2020 7:54 PM
102	2) Identifying our complicity with interlocking systems of oppression and working to dismantle those systems has been a congregational goal for many years. This chapter's directives focus on using our collective voice to give voice to others and accompany others, particularly women in their efforts to dismantle oppressions that bind them. I assume that means that we get smarter about how power works and how those interlocking systems have worked historically to support male dominance and white supremacy to name a couple. We are becoming painfully aware of how those interlocking systems are have a devastating effect on some groups more than others during this pandemic. I assume also the chapter directives mean stepping up our province efforts, communicating those efforts with other provinces and as a congregation taking strong, more forceful actio to dismantle unjust systems.. Some provinces have more experience and know-how confronting specific justice issues. For example I think of California being a leader in anti-trafficking. Our province has learned a lot from them. Congregational committees of sisters, consecrates, partners can learn from each other and take strong national, international stands, often political stands. We are Carondelet can publish those collective efforts and how networking with other religious and civic groups as well . We can have a powerful collective voice that raise issues, maybe stirs up trouble and demands legislative action for change, As for the church, I think we need to continue to do feminist theologizing and politely or maybe, not so politely demand change in the hierarchical structures. I think we have authenticity in giving voice to women when we use our voices in the church. We're used to keeping the peace as are most women. The language of the liturgy is still sexist; women are still not suitable for ordination etc. It's a tough call to speak our truth.	4/19/2020 6:50 PM

108	This is a great first step; continue to offer opportunities for dialogue	4/19/2020 4:31 PM
109	Continue to encourage us to stay aware of all the directives and help us to carry out our witness to others in our world.	4/19/2020 3:49 PM

111	give vision and direction	4/19/2020 3:01 PM
112	Broaden our vision beyond that of just our Congregation's future to more of a world view of religious life in the future. As we move to our "next step" help us to realize we must also ask "and after that....?" Lead by example by incorporating information/action from/with larger groupings of religious both regionally and world-wide.	4/19/2020 2:29 PM
113	The CLT could advise us periodically of the dreams of some of our members and – having asked what help these members might need – could then pass on the information and those of us who are able could then offer our support.	4/19/2020 2:23 PM
114	Establish workgroups to work on-line and plan responses.	4/19/2020 1:43 PM
115	Get input from the sisters at large regarding their dreams for the congregation including their hopes and challenges.	4/19/2020 12:43 PM
116	Depend on the guidance of the Holy Spirit	4/19/2020 11:39 AM
117	Keep us abreast of what LCWR and other groups you are in touch with - what they are saying and directing for our future. I am not a dreamer, so I have to rely on you all for guidance in this area.	4/19/2020 9:53 AM
118	Listen. Be truly prophetic. Be open to new ideas and ways to shape the future - dont just let it happen. When a new person expresses her love of the CSJ's and wants to join their congregation - look at how the congregation can mold itself to fit her - not to mold her. Decide which is important: this person with worldly experience and lots of love to give or what has been done in the past. Value associates and look to their gifts. Use then wisely. Value their presence and desire to be a part of the big picture. Put yourself in their shoes and experience how they are treated. Ex: Why is it that when they want something they go to the sister in the group and ask her to ask instead of asking themselves because they know that she is more likely to be successful with any request. Be vocal and model the importance of their presence to everyone - staff, volunteers, other sisters, etc.	4/19/2020 8:39 AM
119	We need to spend time in addressing how we can do this together. Discussion and prayer will give us new strength.	4/18/2020 10:54 PM
120	I would like for someone on chapter committees to give a senario of what iot would be like if we became one and a senario of what it would be like if some Provinces didn't become part of the rest of the one Congregation.	4/18/2020 9:34 PM
121	Continue to have an intracongregational novitiate and gatherings of our younger sisters so that they get to know one another, continue with the online communication and bulletin, and engage the province leaders in meetings and discussions which they can then share with us.	4/18/2020 8:59 PM

133	It seems that the role of the CLT is to continue to keep these significant issues. Surely after the pandemic experience, we cannot deny our individual and corporate responsibility for realizing our role in living our charism in today's world.	4/18/2020 10:33 AM
134	You are doing a wonderful job of being in relationship with us and inviting us to be actively interconnected. This is so important right now. I hope that you can continue to foster this sense of interrelatedness.	4/18/2020 10:14 AM

139	Covid-19 has called us to simple living and creative sharing in ways that cross all boundaries. Just like racial inequity is being uncovered by disproportionate #'s of deaths, how do we capitalize on working together for justice/awareness/action with government entities? I belong to an inter-faith group, "Together Colorado" and a parish justice group. We are lucky to have a professional community organizer working with us. Zoom meetings and research actions planned in areas of criminal justice. Can we share more of that across congre?	4/17/2020 9:39 PM

143	Help us to collaborate on ministry projects across units by facilitating connections among interested parties.	4/17/2020 6:55 PM
144	The CLT is giving me a sense of belonging so that we, as individual sisters, who belong to a province can receive adequate care and attention to our needs. I think that as One, we already are One in many respects. I think we can realize our dreams in our efforts to collectively discover God's plan for all Religious life. The CLT is in a position to help us listen to the Spirit Who is moving us.	4/17/2020 6:30 PM
145	Let us see what made the current containment of the coronavirus so successful--we appealed to the common good for all by following the procedures which were put in place by combined efforts of local/unit leadership and medical leadership in our houses. We undertook (and obeyed) the recommendations/mandates knowing that what we did would benefit everyone. The same dynamic has to be applied to the way we live with oil-derived products--especially plastics--and how we dispose of them. We need to contact manufacturers of products sold in plastic containers, and encourage their conversion to compostable containers. Where we are stockholders in such industries, put forth like recommendations as conditions for our future investment in their organization.	4/17/2020 6:12 PM
146	By their leadership in prayer, justice and compassion as we work toward our common goals.	4/17/2020 6:11 PM

149	I believe that the local justice office provide information on local, state, national world level that keeps us aware and gives us opportunities to be informed and take action. Congregational leaders can support the province social justice efforts.	4/17/2020 4:15 PM
150	Inspiration The # of sisters going to Elpaso and reported on social media allowed many at home sisters and associates to enter with what they could provide COMMUNICATION Parties on line. Easter Sunday 30 sisters gathered for an hour of conversation and fun. This time in history can certainly be our teacher.	4/17/2020 4:05 PM

152	An informed voice about oppressive issues, politically and globally	4/17/2020 3:48 PM
153	Sorry, I got a phone call and could not get back to the previous ? For number 4 I think it is important that women are recognized for our qualities. We complement men and are not in completion with them. The guys for the most part don't get it. I think we Image God's compassion. In a fullervsense and we need to speak our truth. The three countries that did the best in controlling the spread of covit19 were Iceland, Hong Kong and Germany. The common denominator was they all have a woman as their leader. We can and do make a difference and religious women for sure have a lot to do with the Reign of God. What can you do as Leadership ? Continue to open yourselves to creativity and following the Spirit. That you are doing. I have all the confidence in the world that God will continue to inspire. I loved your open house!	4/17/2020 3:41 PM
154	By keeping us informed about what is happening across the congregation	4/17/2020 3:35 PM
155	Get to know each province and be open to all cultures. Communicate with each province and know what they are thinking.	4/17/2020 3:14 PM
156	One way would be to help keep us focused on particular directives/issues. As the pandemic wanes, town hall meetings or smaller groups could be used for sharing ideas, using contemplative dialogue process. It would be good if all could get to know you perhaps through attending or zoom. I personally at htis time do not have a camera on my computer and my cell phone is iffy but hopefully both can get fixed when "normal" returns.	4/17/2020 3:10 PM

And while we are discerning structure, share what each if the units is thinking and feeling. I do not know how we really discern without hearing from our sisters in the other provinces. Help us see that we cannot live as we have in the pSt. This is a new time and we need to think bigger and live more authentically. Be spiritual leaders by inviting us to understand and live our charism. Today,	4/17/2020 2:40 PM

172	Provide platform for individual, groups and provinces to share success stories in responding to directives. Support individuals or groups involved in same or similar ministries to share experiences.	4/17/2020 12:08 PM
173	First we will need to identify the common dreams. Education as to how we can make the dreams come true require those who have the gifts of a dreamer to work with those who have the practical gifts of developing specific examples of what we can do. These should be open-ended so we do not fall into the trap of "I did all three things, so I've done my part." I'm thinking of the Health and Wellness group who encouraged us to downsize, and gave us the step by step structure to help us take it one step at a time.	4/17/2020 11:45 AM

179	1) Call us to grow in our vowed life or committed association by connecting us for self-reflection and shared ministry. 2) Encourage study, reflection and witness of our charism. 3) Collaborate with other groups who are in sync with our Chapter directives. 4) Speak to ecclesial groups, government, corporations, all of society regarding chapter directions. 5) Focus attention and awareness of how we unite with one another presently and create avenues for connecting on levels that matter: struggles, transformative experiences, growth in faith, detachment and discernment. A call to deeper spirituality and 'transfiguration.'	4/16/2020 6:10 PM
180	And the second is to deepen awareness of interlocking systems of oppression. And how can the team help here? By keeping us from acting alone; this is a time for collaboration, for working together, so let us find groups that we can support and throw our weight in with them. Secondly, with racism, let the team keep reminding us that we need to speak up when we hear veiled racial slurs. This is too important to gloss over.	4/16/2020 4:05 PM
181	I do not know. These times are quite extraordinary and it is difficult to think long-term, since things change daily and seem unpredictable at best.	4/16/2020 2:20 PM
182	Facilitate our movement towards one unit. One unit will eventually happen whether we want it or not.	4/16/2020 12:39 PM
183	Coordinate efforts made by the P/VP so that all are aware of possible actions and how we can take corporate stances when that is feasible and/or helpful.	4/16/2020 12:35 PM

189	So far all has been good. Thank you!	4/16/2020 11:24 AM
190	I did not write the comment listed here? I believe creating listening sessions within the congregation is one positive way to do so.	4/16/2020 11:23 AM
191	I don't really know. I don't really know where we are as a congregation in terms of governance. I think it's great to get ideas from the province and congregational level, but, we really do live out our lives in our local communities. I think how we live provides an example to others.	4/16/2020 11:18 AM
192	I think that takes each one of us not just the Leadership Group or Province Leadership.	4/16/2020 11:02 AM
193	Listen to our feedback; read our surveys. Report on what you hear and have read: common threads or new ideas, then respond to their possibilities. And let the Sisters react to those, knowing we cannot do everything in a collective way. Then somehow come up with priorities, for us to dream about together and realistically act on. I would assume you would direct something like the above in a discernment mode leading to some collective congregational goals with activities centered in prayer and actions.	4/16/2020 10:52 AM
194	Listen to us. Don't rush us but give us deadlines. Be human and recognize the realities we are involved in everyday and no put too big of expectations on all of us. Always value the wisdom figures in our congregation and give them opportunities to participate as fully as they can even if the processes are adapted to their needs – actually I hope they are always adapted to their needs.	4/16/2020 10:47 AM
195	I believe that your personal witness -- your commitment to our vocation and to our congregation -- is really influential. I was happy that you intended to move around the congregation early in your term, which would allow us to get a sense of your commitment and your personalities. I am sorry that circumstances have made that impossible. But I hope that you can reschedule your visits so that we can be inspired by you and more energized to pursue "our dreams for the congregation."	4/15/2020 10:30 PM

197	Continue to work on the Discernment process.	4/15/2020 2:05 PM
198	Clear and effective on-going communication is key. When sisters feel loved and cared for and listened to, our dreams for the congregation will flourish. If all of us are open to the Spirit and have listening hearts, I believe we will be able to hear what God is asking and respond wholeheartedly.	4/15/2020 1:57 PM
199	Keep talking with us, continue to facilitate the sharing of ideas across the Congregation.	4/15/2020 1:52 PM
200	speak out in the name of all of us on current issues and collaborate with other large groups to have an even larger voice and impact.	4/15/2020 1:25 PM
201	I think working with Justice Coordinators/Commissions in each province to choose challenging goals and working to get "buy-in by members builds energy and commitment. Sharing results to all provinces held everyone get energize and committed.	4/15/2020 11:56 AM

205	Right now, I think fewer emails. Or if we get daily emails from you, can you stop the daily Rapid Relays, or the 10 paragraph consociate emails	4/14/2020 9:15 PM
206	Being a greater presence to all the community members: we need to see you and have a chance to dialogue with not only sisters but other CSJ communities	4/14/2020 6:36 PM
207	Listen to us.	4/14/2020 4:51 PM
208	Continue to provide opportunities for us sisters to share ideas and consider the value of different viewpoints.	4/14/2020 4:41 PM

232	Engage with LCWR to support issues such as has been done in the matter of human trafficking. We are ehaded for some very serious voter intimidation and suppression in the coming election. If we do not get some big changes in our government we are going to loose our democracy. We also need to support our community members abroad. We must give voice to the injustices that are identified in those countries as well.	4/10/2020 1:00 PM discernment processes. Eventually I think so form of interconnected dialogue across provinces needs to happen. Perhaps the CLT needs to recheck the time line to see if we really can keep the January 2021 date. So little can happen right now. I can only speak for my own province, but It is as if we are frozen in time.

235	The Congregational Leadership Team must be attuned to the entire congregation and beyond. That is why LCWR and IUSG often take the members of the Team "beyond". I believe that the CLT can "stretch" the members in many ways, especially in passing on to members of the congregation some of the wealth of talks, readings, etc., that come to it or which they attend which bring other parts of the world into their reality. How often does the CLT think: "How I wish the members of (province or group) could hear this (or read this)? I think the CLT can also help one province or group share with another some of the good things that are going on.	4/9/2020 3:19 PM
236	Help focus the CLG so it sees the larger picture and can follow the lead of the CLT. Seems that decisions or directions are viewed mainly on the province level and become episodic non sequentially and we don't truly make a difference.	4/9/2020 1:58 PM
237	Modeling by your actions with each other, the sisters and ACOF who we are called. Continuing your communications with us is helpful. Today's reflection on Holy Thursday was most inspirational for me. Also, a challenge is that each Congregational unit is accountable for Acts of Chapter and how members and associates are involved.	4/9/2020 11:00 AM

263	I think that the CLT can best serve us through representation and speaking out in our name. I do not feel the need for personal contact with the CLT. I appreciate their work on the congregational level but do not feel that need for them in the daily living out of my life in the province.	4/7/2020 1:05 PM
264	during this covid-19 pandemic, we need to stay in the present moment for now, keep ourselves, each other and the dear neighbor safe and keep trusting in God's Care for all of us. The CLT did a great job with the spring open houses. That communication needs to continue so we can keep our dreams for our congregation alive.	4/7/2020 12:47 PM
265	I think the team needs to function in the spirit of facilitation and organization.	4/7/2020 12:15 PM
